Doorway to Modern Distribution

An exciting new era in ultra modern warehousing . . .

Today industry and public warehouses are on the threshold of an entirely new pattern of distribution—Distribution Center Warehousing. This new concept of transit warehousing on a distribution basis was developed in a number of AWI warehouses during the past five years. Today AWI warehouses in 80 cities from coast to coast offer skilled techniques and ultra modern facilities designed specifically to handle this revolutionary type of distribution. We are proud to be Partners In Progress with American industry developing a new era in distribution and warehousing.

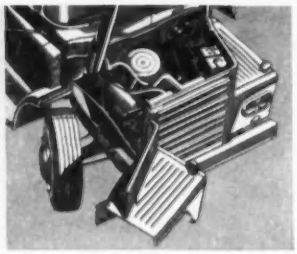
Only Dodge offers you compact cab-forward design plus easy engine access

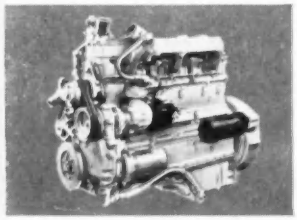
This new Dodge Cab-Forward measures only 89¾ inches from bumper to back of cab. Yet getting to the engine is as easy as opening a door. You can swing out either fender with a simple pull of a latch, then walk right up to the most accessible engine of any truck on the road.

It's easiest to handle, too. Compact cab-forward design makes it far more maneuverable in close quarters than a conventional long-hood truck of comparable wheelbase. And all this without the added cost and bother of a cab you must "tilt" to service the engine.

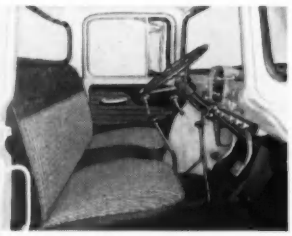
New Dodge Cab-Forwards are available from 15,000 lbs. to 53,000 lbs. G.V.W. In addition, Dodge offers a wide range of conventional models: stakes, tractors, pick-ups, panels and forward-control chassis. Phone or visit your Dodge dealer for complete details.



SERVI-SWING FENDERS will have you asking "why didn't someone have this idea before?" Now, for the first time in a Cab-Forward truck, you can enjoy the benefits of short-hood compactness plus unmatched access to the engine and its components!



DIESEL ENGINES BY CUMMINS . . . new gas V-8's by Dodge; choose the power plant best suited to your kind of hauling! All drive-line components are "Job-Rated" to insure performance that is efficient, thrifty and dependable.



DODGE CAB-FORWARDS are pacesetters in driver comfort and safety. Standard cab features include electric wipers, driver-adjustable hand-brake lever and five-way ventilation. Cab is flexibly mounted at three points to reduce transfer of stress, twist and shock from the chassis.

Now from PAN AM:

Cargo Rates to all the Orient Slashed as much as 53%

This is what you've been waiting for! Starting January 1st, Pan Am slashes general cargo rates in both directions across the Pacific. You save up to 53% on shipments between Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland or Seattle on this side of the Pacific, and Tokyo and all the Orient. For example, here's the new scale of rates from all four U.S. points to Tokyo:

NEW WEIGHT SCALE	NEW RATE SCALE	SAVINGS OVER CURRENT RATES
0-99 lbs.	$2.19 per lb.	12%
100-549 lbs.	1.64 per lb.	12%
550-1,099 lbs.	1.30 per lb.	20%
1,100-5,499 lbs.	1.00 per lb.	38%
5,500-21,999 lbs.	.85 per lb.	47%
22,000 lbs. up	.75 per lb.	53%

Similar rate reductions apply to Guam, Hong Kong, Manila, Bangkok, Singapore, Saigon, Rangoon and Jakarta.

This is typical of Pan Am's constant efforts to make Clipper Cargo ever more profitable, ever more convenient for you. Why do more American companies ship by Pan Am than by any other overseas airline? Because Pan Am offers more: MORE PLANES (including more Jets!) • MORE SPACE • MORE FLIGHTS • MORE SHIPPING POINTS FROM THE U.S. • MORE SERVICE (From electronically checked reservations to doorstep pickup and delivery, your product is in the hands of the most experienced men in the business!)

Now get your product aboard faster, abroad faster—with greater ease, greater profit! Call your cargo agent, freight forwarder or Pan Am office today.

CHUTING THE NEWS

Better Handling and Operation Needed by Merchant Marine

Improvement in cargo-handling and more efficient ship operation were pointed out as solutions to the problems facing the U. S. Merchant Marine.

The National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council says that drastic improvements in these two fields will have to be achieved "to preclude complete dependence on foreign-controlled shipping."

The report recommends the construction of a "new class of cargo vessels of advanced design with speeds in excess of 20 knots and incorporating . . . a unitized system of cargo-handling . . . (and) some automation of the ship operation. . . ."

Increasing the productivity of labor and management, the report suggests, is "a more constructive alternate to subsidization." However, it says, in both subsidized and unsubsidized segments of the industry, there is a "general lack of incentive to take advantage of technological advances.

T Day Proclaimed by Ike

Friday, May 20, 1960, has been proclaimed by President Eisenhower as National Defense Transportation Day, a time in which we should "join in the observance of this day, in collaboration with the transportation industry and representatives of the armed forces . . . to participate in . . . this occasion by appropriate ceremonies," he said.

ICC Report to Congress Shows Record Revenues for U.S. Carriers

The ICC, in its 73rd Annual Report to Congress, revealed that gross revenues of U. S. carriers hit a record high of $19.4 billion in the year ended June 30.

Combined revenues of the eight groups of carriers reporting to the ICC exceeded the previous high by $181 million. This record was set in the year ending June 30, 1957. There was a $1 billion decline in 1957-58.

Railroad income continued to account for the largest portion of total operating revenues. It increased by $243 million over fiscal year 1958 for a total of $10.4 billion. This, however, was a decrease from the former high of $10.9 in fiscal 1957.

Motor carriers of property showed an increase of more than $728 million, reaching a total of $6.8 billion. This exceeds all previous records. Highway carriers' share of the total revenues, over an 11-year period, rose from $2.2 billion to $6.2 billion.

The Commission renewed 11 recommendations for action by Congress. Two new recommendations were submitted.

One new recommendation is passage of legislation to permit the ICC to delegate to three-man employe boards the power to make decisions in cases in which a hearing has been held and which do not involve issues of general transportation importance. The change would expedite the disposition of many cases.

The second new recommendation would include in the ICC's regulation of securities the regulation of borrowing of money by means other than securities.

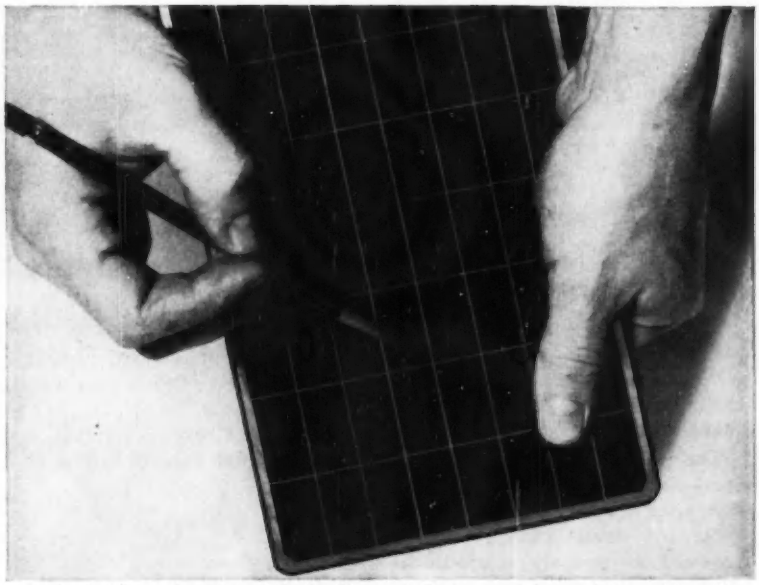
New C&D AccuPak*

plates improve battery performance; increase life!

Automatic nuclear control holds plate uniformity to finest possible tolerance; provides 100% inspection!



Precise weights and amounts of lead oxides must fill the especially cast battery plate grids to assure the maximum capacity and electrical characteristics.

Electric truck battery users will find three major advantages in C & D Slyver-Clad® batteries containing the exclusive, new *AccuPak plates:

1. Extra long life—because of longer, thicker plates.

The true final determinant of battery life is the amount of metal in the grids. C&D batteries outlast any other battery because they have the heaviest, thickest plates made. The maximum cross-sectional area grid is cast by a special process that eliminates flaws, shrinkage, cracks, and dross inclusions.

2. Extremely uniform AccuPak plates; no low cells; high capacity to end of life—due to AccuRay control of pasting.

C&D uses *AccuRay to automatically control the amount of active materials going into the grid structures of both positive and negative plates! C&D is the only industrial battery manufacturer using AccuRay control.

The use of AccuRay to control the pasting operation means that plates have maximum uniformity of weight, density, and thickness of active material. AccuRay controls uniformity to within ±½% and automatically subjects every plate to a 100% inspection.

Exclusive AccuRay control—another C & D first—once again sets the pace for the battery industry. AccuRay automatically controls weights of all battery plates to a point of uniformity heretofore impractical.

3. No life-shortening nor capacity drop-off due to sediment build-up—because of Slyver-Clad® insulation and retention.

The longer, heavier, more uniform plates are then wrapped with the time-proven C&D Slyver-Clad five-fold insulation. This consists of a layer of extremely fine parallel glass filaments or sliver, a vertical glass wrapping, a horizontal glass wrapping, a perforated plastic retainer, and finally a microporous rubber separator.

The combination of these five layers of retentive materials virtually eliminates shedding, or loss of active material, with its accompanying life-shortening build-up of sediment in the bottom of the container. Thus, a huge bottom sediment space is not needed. C&D fills this space in standard containers with the heaviest, thickest plates available in any industrial battery.

The Next Few Weeks

As we go to press, we're getting more bad news on the labor front. Negotiations between the 16 non-operating unions and the railroads are, in fact, "non-operating." The National Mediation Board has been asked to mediate.

This now brings all 21 unions, including the operating brotherhoods, into the last phase of negotiations prior to a strike vote. Until we get more details of the mediation, we are inclined to look upon it with little hope. The Board's past record is a sad one.

The trouble lies with the Railway Labor Act, not with the men who have served on the various boards.

Being an election year, the chances are not good that any proper corrective steps will be made. For one thing, there are no Hoffas in the 21 unions to insult, defy, or severely pressure members of the Congress.

Of course, if the last effort (final recommendations by a president-appointed special emergency board) fails, and a strike takes place, conditions might be ripe for action.

We don't think that these conservative union leaders will be that stupid. Or—goaded by a known radical minority—will they? Well, the next few weeks will tell.

Haphazard?

We think that the President was poorly advised in agreeing to postpone the reduction of the passenger travel tax. This showed disregard for:

. . . the will of the Congress that voted for a 5 per cent reduction last year.

. . . pleas of industry spokesmen.

. . . John Voter and family.

To get the administration's thinking on this and other items in the 1961 budget, we received an hour of briefing in the office of the Director of the Budget. We learned there are:

1. Many "must" items. These are "uncontrollable."(?) They include veterans' payments, interest payments, price supports, etc.

2. Commitments by Congress that must be met. Included are current defense projects and a variety of public works projects.

3. Projects that the administration wants to undertake during the fiscal period. One of these is the "outer space" program.

That, greatly simplified, will cost $79.8 billion. Estimated income is $84 billion. This will result in a $4.2 billion surplus.

Naively, we asked if a few millions less surplus would be bad—like that which the transportation tax cut would drop. The answer? "It's against the present policy."

And what's the policy? We quote, " . . . tax revision should be approached on a comprehensive and orderly basis, rather than by haphazard piecemeal changes. . . ."

We must be thick but, as long as the Congress voted for it, the 5 per cent cut in the transportation tax isn't so haphazard.

Premature Criticism

Much speculation is centered on the Department of Commerce's current study of the nation's transportation problems. Also, there is some criticism and opposition—despite the fact that its details still are unknown.

What information has been obtained by the press or industry people was based mostly on the language used in the preliminary drafting of the segmental parts. We know that much of it has been revised again and again.

Some of these suggest greater freedom in rate making. Basic changes in the Interstate Commerce Act are planned. There will be suggestions for user taxes on the waterways.

But what is being drafted is a new National Transportation Policy, not a new law.

In 1955, Secretary Sinclair Weeks prepared a similar document. Some of the recommendations were adopted, most were dropped.

As we see it, the Williams staff, Undersecretary Allen, and Secretary Mueller have had the benefit of industry advice. Let's wait and see how much of it has been accepted. And let's find out what the President has to say.

Then, if we don't like the result, we can tell the Congress about it. But, above all, let's not be premature.

NITLeague Files Exceptions to Examiner's Report on Regulations for Paying Carriers

The National Industrial Traffic League has filed seven exceptions to the examiner's report to the ICC on Regulations for Payment of Rates and Charges.

Examiner A. L. Corbin's report recommended that the Commission find that the present credit regulations for payment of charges on carload traffic have not been shown to require modification.

Specific points on which NITLeague said that the examiner erred are as follows:

1. In finding that the extension on railroad credit from 96 to 120 hours would have little effect upon the competitive picture.
2. In finding that any extension of credit time would give the shipper or receiver the means of operating on the railroad's cash.
3. In finding that no ascertainable benefit would accrue to the carriers.
4. In finding that the requested authority would operate to the detriment of protesting railroads.
5. In finding that the authority requested would also affect railroads other than petitioning railroads (certain southern railroads) and in implying that competition between railroads would require that the authority be made nationwide.
6. In concluding that the present credit provisions on carload traffic have not been shown to require modification.
7. In failing to find that the proposed rules are fair and reasonable.

Increases in Highway Travel Reported for 1958, 1959

Total motor vehicle travel in 1958 amounted to 664.7 billion vehicle-miles, according to the Bureau of Roads. This was an increase of 2.7 per cent over the 647 billion reported in 1957.

For 1959, it is estimated, travel will total 696 billion vehicle miles.

In 1958, trucks and combinations averaged 11,159 miles traveled per vehicle. They consumed 14,514,000 gal of fuel. Average miles traveled per gallon of fuel consumed was 7.96 miles.

Passenger cars represented 83 per cent of the vehicle and performed 82 per cent of the travel. Trucks and combinations accounted for 16 per cent of the vehicles and 17 per cent of the travel.

After a 4 per cent rebound in 1959 from the 1958 recession, the transportation industry expects business to grow in 1960, says the U. S. Chamber of Commerce in its annual Transport Review and Outlook.

CAB Orders Air Line To Charge for Container

The CAB has ordered American Airlines to stop excluding the weight of boxes in assessing transportation charges. The line's Paul Bunyan boxes are the ones involved.

The CAB maintains that if the shipper packs the material into the boxes without any additional wrappings, in accordance with respondent's applicable tariff provisions, the boxes should be charged for. If the shipper has packaged his goods so that they can be transported by themselves, but the boxes are used for carriers' convenience, no charge should be assessed, the agency said.

50 Per Cent Increase in TOFC Reported by AAR for 1959

Piggy-back carloadings for 1959 totaled 415,156, it was reported recently by the Association of American Railroads.

This figure represents an increase of 138,389 cars or 50 per cent more than the 1958 total. TOFC carloadings have jumped 67 per cent since 1957.

Since the first report was issued in 1954, the weekly average has risen from 1917 to 7984. The 1958 weekly average was 5322.

3 Motor Carrier Groups Protest New Forwarder Rates

Three motor carrier organizations have taken exception to an ICC examiner's report supporting new volume rates for a forwarder.

The Regular Common Carrier Conference, the National Motor Freight Traffic Association, and the Rocky Mountain Motor Tariff Bureau are filing the exception. The rates involved have been placed in effect by Frank P. Dow, Inc., on import shipments moving from the West Coast.

The carrier groups claim that the new rates are not compensatory.

ICC Examiner Backs Approval Of 85 Rates for Sea-Land Service

Examiner Charles B. Morgan has recommended that the ICC approve more than 85 reduced commodity rates for Sea-Land Service.

Proposed by Pan-Atlantic Steamship Corp. and motor common carriers, the rates cover numerous commodities. These products can be shipped in trailerloads, multiple trailerloads, and volume quantities between numerous points in the east, south, and southwest.

Nine additional rates did not gain the recommendation of the examiner.

Punctuality is a great virtue. The trouble is nobody's ever around to give you credit for it.

WRONG CARD—Driver: "What's Ox Svensen screaming about?"

Despatcher: "He took the old pickup out on an express call. It broke down on the way back. There wasn't a 'phone handy, so he pushed it back to the garage."

Driver: "So what? For Ox that's not enough to work up a good sweat."

Despatcher: "Sure, but the shop steward said Ox had no right to touch a mechanical failure without a mechanic's card. He wants Ox to push it back or he'll call a strike."

BUDGET QUOTE—Reading the President's budget summary, "1961 Federal Budget in Brief," gave us this gem from Page 30:

"Federal grants for public assistance will rise in 1961. These grants will finance 58% of total Federal-State-local expenditures . . .

" . . . Public assistance has long been recognized as primarily a responsibility of State and local governments. The increasing Federal share in this program tends to weaken their sense of responsibility."

. . . We italicized the last sentence, though we should have used the largest type in the shop.

. . . We also believe that the words "tends to" should be deleted, and the word "kills" substituted for the word "weakens."

. . . All patriotic Americans will find that sentence a good theme for a letter to their Congressmen—and a good election issue.

POPULATION—U. S. Department of Commerce reports that Nevada, Florida and Arizona, in that order, lead all states in per cent gain in population since the 1950 Census.

. . . By the way, Alaska gained 49 per cent, Hawaii 26 per cent.

. . . California still leads in numerical increase. And the three largest states, by population, are New York, California, Pennsylvania.

AERO-BOARD

Air Powered Hydraulic

DOCKBOARD

SAFE, READY FOR INSTANT USE.
Nothing to lift or carry, the AERO-BOARD safely stands upright, out of the way when not in use. The operator must turn the air valve handle that releases air pressure before the board lowers into position.

Another time saving and safety feature—the van can be spotted snug against the bumper dock and the van doors opened (or closed) with the AERO-BOARD in the upright position.

SIMPLIFIED DESIGN. Parts included in the AERO-BOARD "kit", as assembled at the factory, are adaptable to most docks without extensive dock modification.

INEXPENSIVE TO INSTALL. Kit is complete ready to install on new docks or on docks being modernized—no electrical wiring required, just mounting and air pipe connections. Simple "air-over-oil" hydraulic system raises and lowers AERO-BOARDS.... Power is supplied from air system which is standard on many docks.

KIT INCLUDES 57" long x 60" wide safety tread steel board with tapered front edge and guard rail, mounting plate, hydraulic cylinder and cradle, fluid reservoir tank with mounting bracket, control valve and flexible hose lines.

AERO-BOARD
$410.00
Ready to Install

Custom Engineering Service
The standard AERO-BOARD is engineered and manufactured for easy installation on docks with permanently constructed bumpers to carry a loaded 4,000 lb. capacity lift truck. The same model with a separately constructed fabricated steel bumper (see illustration at right) can be installed on concrete or wood flush docks.

If the standard model does not fit your requirements, Freightliner will custom engineer and manufacture AERO-BOARDS for your specific needs . . . Ask about this special service.

Legal Liability Insurance

To The Editor:

For some time we have been concerned relative to warehouseman's legal liability insurance coverage.

At the present time we carry coverage in the amount of $5 million, which according to our information is far in excess of most of the warehouses which have larger stocks and several times the amount of our storage space, which is only dry storage, no cold storage. Our policy provides for 100 per cent company insurance and in order that we receive full protection, this amount is necessary.

As far as we are able to determine, the coverage carried by other warehouses is from $50,000 to $200,000. In your opinion, is there any reason for this smaller amount of coverage? Are the warehouses just assuming that fire loss will not exceed the smaller amounts and are willing to assume any loss in excess of the amount carried?

J. J. Cowan,
Secretary

Harris Transfer Co.,
Birmingham 1, Ala.

I presume that warehousemen who carry law liability insurance assume that no claims or suits for large amounts will be filed. Personally, I recommend carrying insurance in large amounts.—Leo T. Parker, DA Legal Consultant.

Questions and Answers

To The Editor:

1. Are all goods stored in cold storage warehouses at the owner's risk against fire, ammonia leaks, spoilage, and mold . . .? 2. How can I be sure that the merchandise received for storage is not spoiled before putting it into storage; how can a warehouse check on this? 3. Is the warehouse responsible for power failure in case the refrigeration fails to operate during the night? 4. Must all merchandise which is put into cold storage be inspected by the warehouse to the extent of opening cartons, etc.? 5. What is meant by negligence of warehouse and what would cause negligence? 6. Is all merchandise stored in cold storage placed there at owner's risk against all hazards?

Louis Harrison

R. F. Co.,
La Crosse, Wis.

Here are the answers: 1. No. 2. Make a through test of its condition. 3. Yes, if his negligence in failing to make inspections and repair the equipment resulted in the failure.

4. Yes, if you want to win all law suits. 5. Your failure to exercise the same degree of care that other prudent warehousemen would exercise. 6. No.—Leo T. Parker, DA Legal Consultant.

Article Addition

To The Editor:

The American Society of Traffic and Transportation is generous in the matter of giving permission to publish papers submitted to it, but there is a condition attached to such publication. It is required that papers so published show the following notation:

"Although this paper was accepted by the American Society of Traffic and Transportation in satisfaction of the requirements for Examination No. 5, the Society assumes no responsibility for the content of the paper or for its construction."

This condition was not met when my paper was published, in part, in the November, 1959, issue of Distribution Age. It was also stated that I am president of the National Association of Freight Transportation Consultants. This office is held not by me, but by J. A. Heitzinger of the Midwest Freight Traffic Service Bureau, Inc., Chicago.

Warehouse Receipt

To The Editor:

We are trying to find a pamphlet or instruction book that will show why warehouses issue a warehouse receipt (non-negotiable) form.

There has been a question with some parties who feel this form should not be necessary and, in lieu of this, just a memo receipt of merchandise received.

Harry V. Arthur
General Manager Traffic & Sales
Central Freight Service, Inc.
Edgewater, N.J.

According to my interpretation of the law, a warehouseman can if he so desires give an owner of stored goods a written acknowledgment or other paper receipt instead of the usual warehouse receipt.

But, the document given to the owner of goods stored in the warehouse, whether termed a "memo" or regular warehouse receipt, must contain information, as follows: the location of the warehouse; the date the receipt is issued; the consecutive number of the receipt; a statement whether the stored goods will be delivered to the bearer, or to a certain person, or to a specified person on his order; the rate of storage charges; a description of the goods; signature of the warehouseman or his authorized agent; a statement of the amount for which the warehouseman claims a lien, but if the amount is unknown then the receipt must show the estimated liens or other liabilities.—Leo T. Parker, DA Legal Consultant.

Should you . . . or shouldn't you use pallets?

ELIMINATING PALLETS . . . appears to offer obvious savings. The many new attachments in use for this purpose makes the idea even more attractive. However, many possible pitfalls face even the experienced materials handling man.

YOUR DECISION should be based on a careful analysis by specialists who have had broad experience with such conversions. Your local Clark dealer, for example, is able to offer you not only his own specialized knowledge, but in addition, that of a team of Clark engineers who have dealt with countless companies on the same subject.

THE COMBINATION of specialized knowledge, a complete line of equipment (including all power types), plus a full line of job-engineered attachments, gives your Clark dealer an opportunity to present you with a completely unbiased, and carefully documented recommendation.

REDUCING COSTS is of prime consideration. The elimination of pallets in your operation may prove to be the quickest, soundest way of accomplishing this objective. It's worth investigating. Contact your local Clark dealer, listed in the Yellow Pages under "Trucks, Industrial" or, if you prefer, write: Engineering Aid, Clark Equipment Company, Battle Creek, Michigan.

WASHINGTON DA

By Neil R. Regeimbal, Chilton Washington News Bureau

SEEK FINANCING CONTROL—The ICC will ask Congress this year to give it broader power over financing by motor carriers and railroads. ICC now controls securities financing by carriers, but growth in recent years of other forms of financing is outside their jurisdiction. The Commission wants the power to control use of conditional sales contracts, leases, mortgages, and open credit agreements involving loans not evidenced by notes.

STORAGE PRACTICE RAPPED—The government could have saved more than $9 million in transportation costs if it had stored its stockpile of materials for a war emergency close to where they are acquired. This is the finding of a survey by the General Accounting Office. The agency says the government bureau in charge of the stockpile, the GSA, should store them near domestic sources or ports of entry. It says recommendations for changes now can still save some $5.5 million, if put into effect.

NEW STOCKPILE POSSIBLE — Government's once-dying stockpile program may get a shot in the arm this year. A present study of the stockpile program will probably wind up this year. It is to consider whether the old theory should be broadened to take into account civilian reconstruction needs after an attack, as well as military war supplies. It could be the start of a new "finished item" stockpile program.

SUPPORT DAMAGE AWARDS — ICC again is supporting legislation (H. R. 8031) to give it power to award reparations to shippers for rates found unreasonable after they've been in effect from motor carriers and freight forwarders. The Commission now has this right in the case of railroads and water carriers. A U. S. Supreme Court ruling now in effect bans these reparations.

PROBE MOVING ORDER—A Senate subcommittee is studying a recent Defense Dept. order changing rules governing contracts for shipping uncrated household goods of military and civilian personnel. Sen. George A. Smathers, D., Fla., chairman of the surface transportation subcommittee, complains that the changes in Pentagon policies were announced without prior consultation with interested parties, although they will have far-reaching effects on the business of many carriers.

DEMAND ROAD SOLVENCY—Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D., Va., is demanding that the federal highway program get back on a "sound fiscal basis." The senator, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, wants the present temporary 1-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax ended; temporary diversion of general government funds to highways stopped, and in the future the highway program "be run on a pay-as-we-go basis." He says recent troubles in financing roadbuilding were caused by past "profligacy and reckless financing."

TRANSPORT TAX APPLIED — The 10 percent passenger tax applies to an entire mixed shipment of persons and freight under charter unless the percentage of the payment can be accurately allocated to persons. The Internal Revenue Service says the percentage of the total charter must be allocated to persons "on a fair and reasonable basis and supported by proper records." Formerly, the taxmen used the "predominant use" test in applying either the 10 per cent tax on persons or the 3 per cent tax on freight for mixed charter shipments. Since repeal of the 3 per cent tax, however, the law requires that the 10 per cent tax be applied to the portion represented by persons, or to the entire payment. A weight-ratio test is not an adequate allocation basis, the IRS says.

FREIGHT CAR REBOUND—A 60 per cent boost in production of railroad freight cars is predicted by the government this year. This would mean a production year of 55,000 units, or the highest level since almost 100,000 were produced in 1957. Freight car production fell to the lowest level in 10 years in 1959. During the first 10 months of last year, only 32,163 cars were delivered. The poor 1959 showing traces to the 1958 recession when only 7361 cars were ordered.

IMPORT TARIFFS PUBLISHED — The FMB is proposing to require international shipping companies to file and make public their rates for import cargoes, as well as export shipments. Previously, ship owners were required to file only rates in export trade within 30 days after they became effective. Now, both export and import rates would have to be filed by the date they go into effect. Ship owners also would be required to establish a system of distributing rates to interested persons either free or for a reasonable subscription fee. Comments on the proposal must be filed with the FMB by March 1.

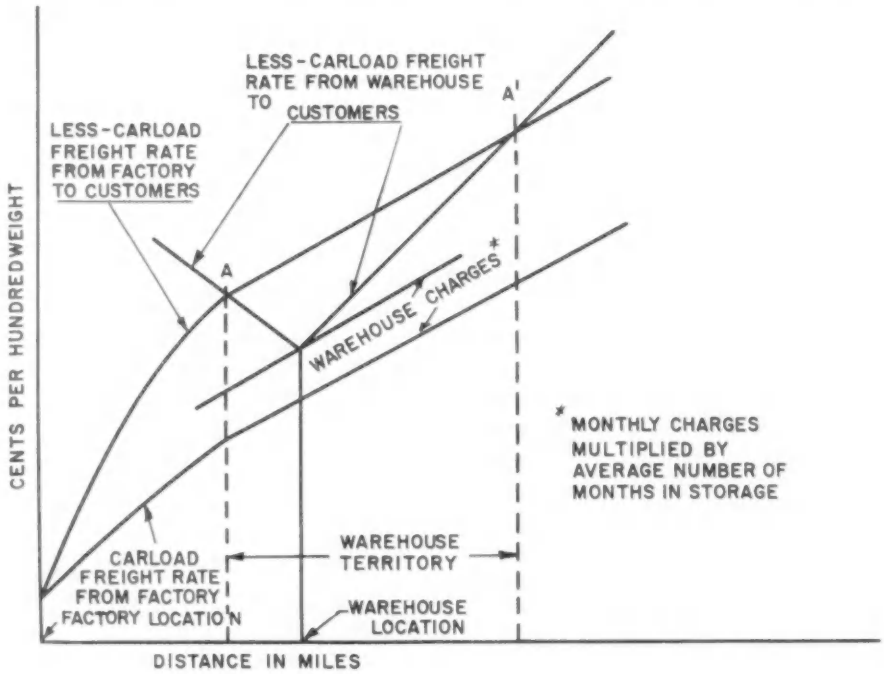
Keys to Warehouse Selection

Transport Factors to be Considered

- Consider distance from warehouse to factory.
- Consider carload freight rates from factory to warehouse which may sometimes involve a combined rail and water rate.
- Consider the less-carload freight rate from the warehouse to customers, including the possibilities of using truck service.
- Consider the transit time of less-carload freight from a warehouse to final stop.
- Consider package-car services available to the warehouse.
- Consider all warehouse charges.

Territory Which May Be Economically Served from a Warehouse



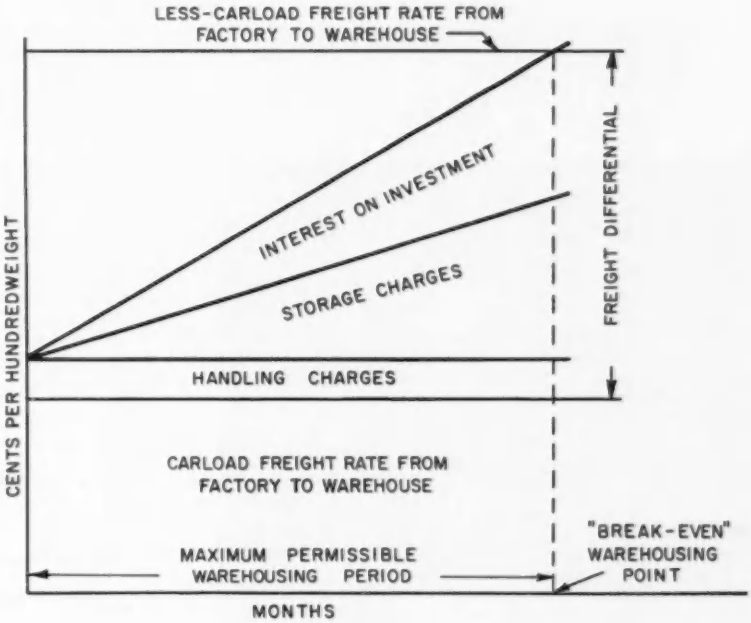
In every plan of distribution there are some points at which two total costs—one direct to the customer and one to the customer via a merchandise warehouse — are equal. They are the break-even points defining the outermost limits of the territory which can be served economically by a particular warehouse.

The accompanying illustration shows a typical case with the distance in miles between factory and warehouse equated against the freight rate in cents per hundred pounds. "A" and "A'" are the two intersections of the total cost curves. They are the break-even points. The territory economically served by the particular warehouse to which this chart would apply is that area between "A" and "A'" indicated by the dotted lines perpendicular to the base line.

In practice, the freight rate curves are not the smooth, evenly rising lines which are used here for purposes of illustration.

Warehouse X— Its Profitable Shipping Area

Use of a hypothetical warehouse shows what you should look for when selecting warehouse locations. Service costs need not equal your market's potential



From a sales standpoint, one of the primary reasons for selecting particular general merchandise warehouse locations is the ability of one location to render better service to customers than would be possible in another.

When the sum of warehouse handling charges, warehouse storage charges, and interest on the investment in the stock under consideration accumulates to a total equal to the difference between the less-carload or less-truckload and carload or truckload freight rates, the breakeven warehousing point has been reached and the warehousing period is at its maximum.

When the sales volume in the warehouse territory, within the maximum permissible warehousing period, is more than the minimum weight on which a carload or truckload rate may be obtained, there is a gain through carrying warehoused stock. Where this break-even point would be for a particular case is shown in the accompanying illustration.

You should remember that there are certain competitive conditions in each territory and city which may demand immediate deliveries from a warehoused stock even though direct shipment from the factory may be more economical.

The following questions might be answered by the person faced with warehouse selection from the sales standpoint:

1. Are present customers in the area under survey purchasing as much of the product as they can use?

2. If not, is it because they do not anticipate their needs and are often forced to buy locally in emergencies?

3. If customers are securing a portion of their requirements from local sources, are they putting competitors' goods on their shelves (if retailers) or into production (if industrial users), thus opening the door to competition which will make further inroads into present volume?

4. Will a spot stock give more volume on long-profit items or is the manufacturer now getting the cream of the local volume?

5. Will a spot stock merely throw the manufacturers a bigger volume of the high-competition items in the line (the low-profit items)? Or can a spot stock be used to induce dealers to carry the whole line instead of few fast-selling items?

6. What will the wholesalers or distributors think of the spot stocks? Will they welcome them as an aid or will they condemn them as making it easier for small competitors to obtain the manufacturer's goods at wholesale?

How Warehouse Rates Are Set

Here are the 12 principal factors considered by public merchandise warehousemen in calculating storage and handling charges for articles offered to them for storage. Such charges vary from city to city and fluctuate in relation to weight, size, and nature of the articles being stored.

1. The type of package in which a commodity is offered for storage. Packages in respect to types may be either (a) bags, cartons, cases, crates, and metal ingots, or (b) bales, bundles, cooperage, pails, rolls, and tubs. Warehousemen have found that cost differences occur in handling rather than in storage of (a) or (b).

2. The weight and density of the package offered for storage. Cost of handling and storing packages of a given type varies in accordance with weight per package and with the density per package. Density is the relation of volume to weight expressed in terms of cubic inches per pound.

3. The value of the commodity and of the services required.

4. Whether or not the commodity is particularly fragile.

5. Liability to claims on the part of the warehouseman for damage to the commodity while in his custody.

6. The volume of business offered by the commodity. Commodities flowing through a warehouse in large and regular volume can naturally be charged for at a lower rate than those arriving in small quantities at irregular periods.

7. Possibility of damaging other goods through odor, leakage, attraction to vermin, dust, etc.

8. Difficulty in handling goods because of their hazardous nature, dust, odor, or mussiness, etc.

9. Whether or not goods need be protected from freezing or kept in cold storage.

10. Whether or not it is necessary to isolate the goods completely because of their hazardous nature.

11. Whether or not the goods need to be stored in a way that allows easy access for examination or treatment.

12. Piling requirements such as loss of space due to type of package or type of commodity, size of package, necessity for special piling, legibility of marks on packages, assortment of packages, etc.

Salesman who KNOWS he uses trucks...

Every salesman knows trucks deliver what he sells. He knows from personal experience. Without regular on-time delivery, sales would fade. In modern manufacturing and merchandising, limited inventory is common, fast replacement a "must." The salesman knows there isn't room for fumbling around . . . distribution is keyed to the clock . . . He uses trucks to keep everything in step . . . including his commissions.

When Storing Out of State

- Will the maintenance of spot stocks render the company liable to compliance with the foreign corporation laws of another state?
- What is the law of the state in question? Is it enforced?
- What is the penalty for failure to comply with the law?
- Does failure to comply invalidate contracts within the state?
- What local agent appointments for service of process are required within the state and how much will they cost?
- What is the initial cost of qualifying to do business, including filing fees, initial tax, and other costs?
- What is the annual cost of qualifying to do business, including annual filing fees, franchise levy, annual corporation tax, and annual income tax if one is levied?
- Is it best to qualify the parent company, incorporate a local subsidiary within the state, or distribute from some adjacent state to keep within the definition of interstate commerce?

CF reefers go places—by land and sea

In Consolidated Freightways truck-ship service to Alaska and Hawaii, freight is loaded once in the port area. Only the container is rehandled. The result is a coordinated motor freight service — door-to-door — on both perishables and general commodities.

This is just one more way in which Consolidated Freightways leads the way in handling frozen foods and other commodities requiring special protection. CF was a pioneer of reefer service, and today offers the most modern and versatile equipment continuing research can develop. Throughout its regular route system, insulated trailers with mechanical heating and refrigerating units meet the highest standards of performance under all extremes of climate.

In this and in each of its diversified services, CF strives to anticipate and meet the rapidly changing needs of today's shippers and consignees. For more information contact the Consolidated Freightways Information Center, Box 32, Chicago 50, Illinois. Telephone AUstin 7-7003. TWX Bellwood 172.

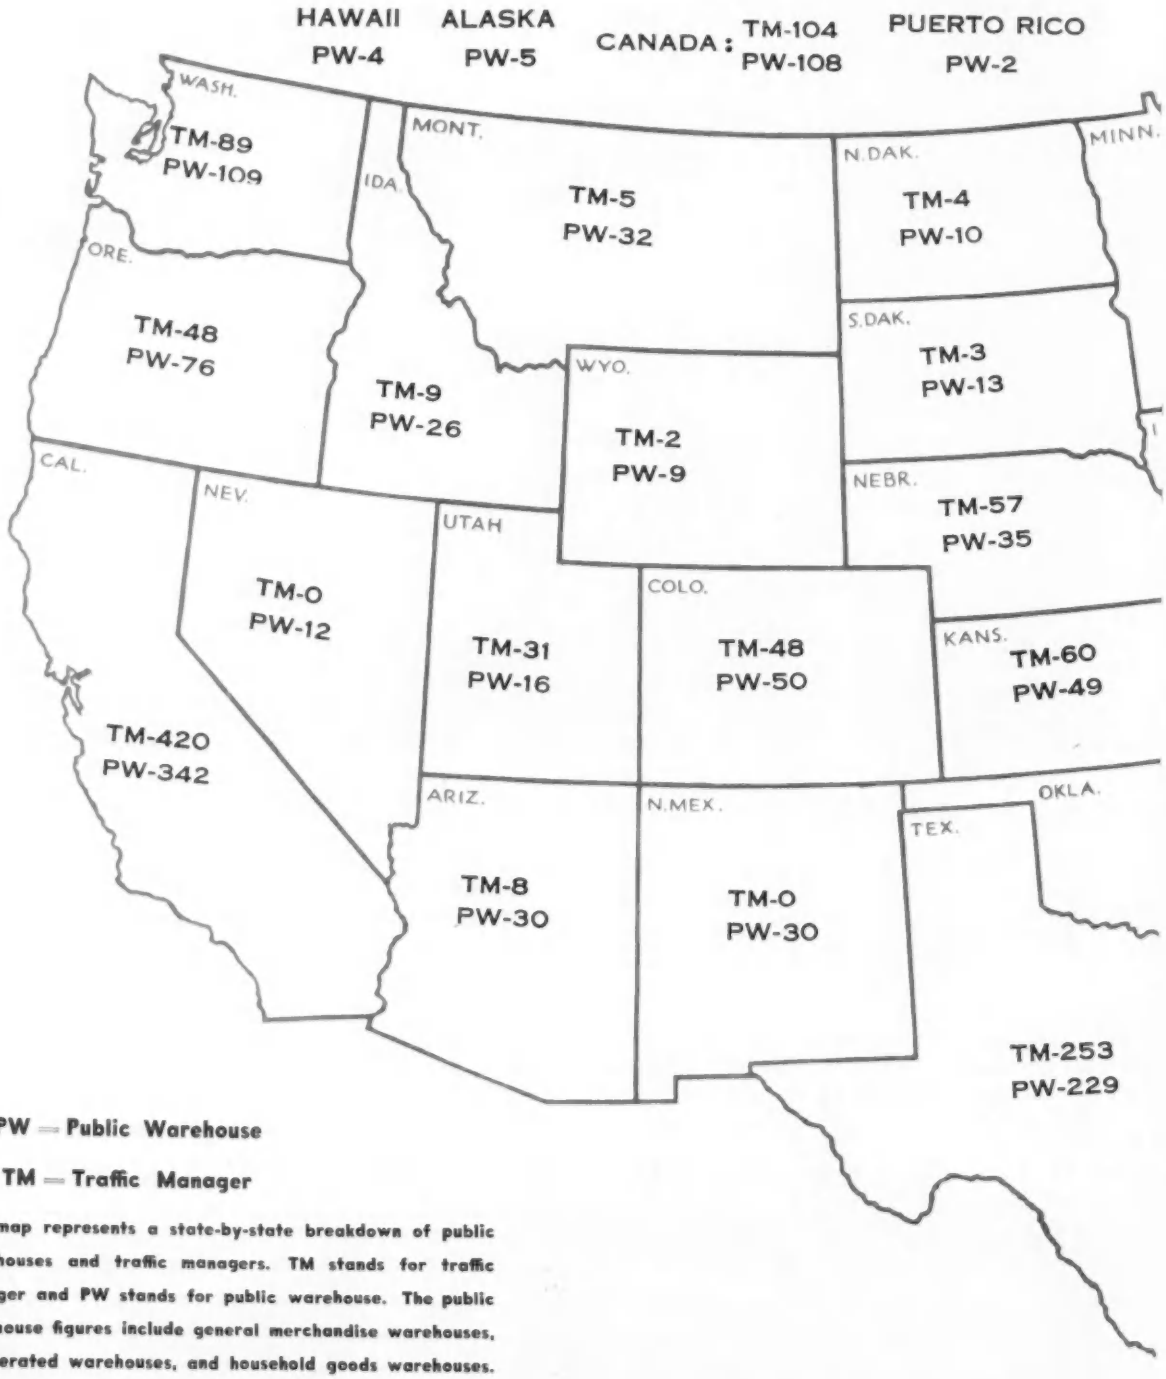
DA Census of



PW = Public Warehouse

TM = Traffic Manager

This map represents a state-by-state breakdown of public warehouses and traffic managers. TM stands for traffic manager and PW stands for public warehouse. The public warehouse figures include general merchandise warehouses, refrigerated warehouses, and household goods warehouses. Traffic figures include only industrial traffic managers. This material was gathered by the DA Research Department.

Public Warehouses

The Warehouse Receipt

Must Specify

- The location of the warehouse where the commodities are stored.
- The date of issue of the warehouse receipt.
- The consecutive number of the warehouse receipt.
- Whether the commodities received will be delivered to the bearer, to a specified person, or a specified person or his order.
- The rate of storage. This can be included by reference to the warehousing agreement between the depositor and the warehouseman.
- A description of the commodities or the packages containing them.
- The signature of the warehouseman—which may be made by his authorized agent.
- If the warehouse receipt is issued for commodities of which the warehouseman is owner, either solely, jointly, or in common with others, the fact of such ownership.
- The amount of advances made and of liabilities incurred for which the warehouseman claims a lien. If the precise amount of such advances made or such liabilities incurred is at the time of receipt's issue unknown to the warehouseman or his agent who issues it, a statement that advances have been made or liabilities incurred and the purpose thereof is sufficient and may be included on the warehouse agreement between the depositor of the commodities covered by such warehouse receipt and the warehouseman.

Advantages as Collateral

- They may be used as the basis for bankers' acceptances.
- They may be negotiable or nonnegotiable, as desired.
- They give independent custodianship of the goods.
- They clearly define the liability of the warehouseman.
- They may be used as security for personal loans.
- They are standardized, recognized credit instruments.
- They have strong legal and financial backing.

◆ A warehouse receipt is not a fire insurance policy or any other class of insurance policy, and the storer or banker holding such a receipt as collateral should see that adequate insurance is provided.

◆ A warehouse receipt is not a guarantee of grade and should not be depended on for that purpose unless it is specifically stated on the receipt that the grade of the commodities represented thereby is guaranteed by the warehouseman. Few if any warehousemen are qualified to determine the grade of the various commodities stored. Grade or quality certificates covering agricultural products placed in storage can be secured easily from those sufficiently conversant with the type of commodities warehoused to qualify them to issue a grade certificate on such commodities.

◆ A warehouse receipt is not a guarantee of title any more than a mortgage is a guarantee of title, as the storer of commodities can only transfer to the warehouseman and to the holder of his warehouse receipts that title to the deposited commodities which the storer possesses. The title which the storer possesses passes with the transfer by indorsement (without indorsement if issued by the order of "bearer") of a warehouse receipt if non-negotiable. It is, however, a well-understood and elementary principle of law that the transfer of a warehouse receipt in good faith and in the ordinary course of business operates to transfer the title to the commodities covered by such receipt.

Negotiable Receipts

- May be passed from hand to hand by endorsement and without endorsement if issued order of "bearer."
- If negotiable receipt provides for commodity delivery to "bearer," it may be negotiated without endorsement and by simple delivery.
- If delivery is to be made to the order of specified person or company, that person or company must endorse the receipt before it can be negotiated.
- If partial delivery is required, warehouseman issuing receipt will endorse on the back the quantity delivered.
- For total commodity delivery, warehouseman will retain and cancel negotiable warehouse receipt.
- When more than one negotiable receipt is issued for the same goods, the word "duplicate" must be placed plainly on the face of each receipt, except the first one.

Nonnegotiable Receipts

- Are made out to specified persons and state that goods stored will be delivered to that person, corporate or otherwise—not to his "order."
- Must be marked plainly on its face "nonnegotiable" or "not negotiable" or holder may impose upon the warehouseman the liabilities of a negotiable receipt.
- It is not necessary to surrender a nonnegotiable warehouse receipt to the warehouseman issuing such a receipt before either partial or total delivery can be received.

A Check Chart of Cost Factors In Private Warehousing

The many problems and pitfalls of public warehousing are given here in handy check list form. Financial provisions, construction requirements, labor problems, depreciation, and real estate taxes are a few of the things you should be aware of before "jumping" into private warehousing operations.

Capital Expenditures

☐ 1. Purchase of Land:

A suitable site must be located. Current industrial expansion in active industrial areas has made location a difficult and expensive problem. Having picked a location, financing must be given consideration.

Financial provisions should include:

a. Purchase price of land.
b. Survey fees.
c. Unpaid assessments.
d. Land clearing fees.
e. Removal of unusable buildings.
f. Laying of roads.
g. Rail sidings and other trackage.
h. Driveways, walks, etc.

Provision should be made for purchasing land needed for expansion.

☐ 2. Buildings:

The cost of the building, whether constructed by the company or purchased, should include all permanent expenditures, including fees to architects and engineers. It also should include construction costs such as:

a. Excavation.
b. Foundation.
c. Grading.
d. Electrical system.
e. Sprinkler system.
f. Heating system.
g. Ventilating system.
h. Alarm system.
i. Air conditioning.
j. Telephone system.
k. Locker rooms.
l. Intercommunications.

If an existing building is purchased, consideration must be given to all necessary alterations and improvements. Cost of the improvements must be added to the cost of the building.

In conjunction with the substantial cash required, it should be noted that the end result would be a specialty building. If this structure were offered for sale at a later date, a buyer would have to be found whose needs required a building of this exact type if its approximate cost was to be recovered.

Also, in building or purchasing a warehouse one should consider peak load requirements. Costly space would be standing idle at times other than peak periods. This would result in increasing the unit cost of items handled.

☐ 3. Warehouse Equipment:

Consideration must be given to the purchase of warehouse equipment, not only the quantity and the quality, but also the kind necessary for the economical operation of the warehousing unit. A permanent record would have to be maintained of the equipment purchased. This specialized equipment would include:

a. Fork-lift equipment.
b. Hand trucks.
c. Roller and power conveyors.
d. Pallets, regular and box type.
e. Racks and bins.
f. Other handling equipment.

☐ 4. Warehouse Supplies:

In order that a warehouse function properly, it is necessary that certain supplies be available at all times. The supplies must be purchased, paid for, and records pertaining to them must be maintained.

☐ 5. Labor:

Adequate supply of competent workers is one of the most important requisites of an efficient warehouse operation. To obtain such a group certain problems must be met:

a. Labor supply.
b. Responsibility of hiring correct men.
c. Training of employes.
d. Negotiation of labor contracts.
e. Satisfactory disposition of labor disputes.
f. Having men work on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays, if necessary—also nights.
g. Hiring and training supervisors capable of handling men and the operation.
h. Selecting machine operators, pickers, and regular warehouse workers.
i. Separation problems when employes are not required.
j. Setting up an efficient vacation and holiday program so that operation will not be interrupted.
k. Establishing a good labor-management personnel relationship.

☐ 6. Handling Expense:

Essentially all warehousing is handling. This consideration refers to the in-and-out service requirements. It includes the expense for, but is not limited to:

a. Receiving merchandise by trucks.
b. Delivering merchandise to trucks.
c. Receiving merchandise by railroad cars.
d. Delivering merchandise to railroad cars.
e. Extra services (switching, car spotting, etc.).
f. Shipping functions.
g. Recoopering.
h. Repacking.
i. Storage of merchandise.
j. Rewarehousing.
k. Labeling.
l. Checking.
m. Stenciling.
n. Loading of trucks.
o. Verifying commodity numbers.
p. Picking orders.
q. Traffic functions (receipts, freight bills, damage claims, demurrage, etc.).

☐ 7. Office Equipment:

Substantial sums would have to be expended for the purchase of office equipment. A permanent record would have to be maintained listing the purchase of each item of office equipment. Such office equipment would include:

a. Business and bookkeeping machines.
b. Desks and chairs.
c. Filing cabinets, etc.
d. Inventory control card files or similar equipment.

☐ 8. Clerical:

In this category one is faced with:

a. The problem of hiring efficient personnel to assure the proper functioning of a clerical staff to record the numerous transactions taking place.
b. You have the problem of hiring the correct personnel for your bookkeeping department function.
c. You have the problem of hiring and training the correct personnel for inventory record control department or function.

d. You have the problem of hiring and training the correct personnel for your payroll department or function. This department must maintain an individual record of each employe showing the amount of monies withheld for taxes, the amount withheld under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act, and for disability insurance. Payroll tax returns are required by various governmental agencies. Even if you do not elect to handle this function at the warehouse, it is still an added burden on office personnel.

e. You have the problem of hiring and training personnel for telephone operators, clerks, etc.

☐ 9. Depreciation:

Complete records should be maintained which show the date of purchase of each item subject to depreciation, the original cost, rates of depreciation, and depreciation already taken.

Operating Problems

☐ 10. Maintenance:

Particular attention must be given to setting up a proper maintenance and repair department. Definite units of maintenance men are necessary for the different types of equipment. Some of the groups are as follows:

a. Air conditioning.
b. Heating, ventilating.
c. Office equipment and machines.
d. Fork-lift equipment.
e. Carpenters.
f. Electricians.

In the first few days of operation, maintenance mainly is a matter of adjustments and corrections. Such services are available by job and contract.

☐ 11. Real Estate Taxes:

Ownership of a warehouse brings with it the problem of obtaining assessed valuation for real estate tax purposes. There are water and sewer taxes in addition.

☐ 12. Personal Property Taxes:

Personal property taxes are assessed against all merchandise kept in a company-owned warehouse. In addition, all equipment is assessed.

☐ 13. Payroll Taxes:

One must maintain proper records and show all payroll deductions made from employes and for preparing the numerous payroll tax returns now required by state and Federal governments.

☐ 14. Fuel Expense:

Consideration should be given to purchase and cost of fuel necessary for proper heating. This includes freight, unloading and removal of any debris, and the maintenance of the heating system.

☐ 15. Power and Light:

Includes costs of installation, special equipment, maintenance, and utilities. Battery charging equipment for fork-lift trucks often is overlooked.

☐ 16. Water:

Includes the cost of special equipment, installation, maintenance, and water. Special wells may be necessary. There may be a chemical control problem.

☐ 17. Janitorial Services:

Adequate help must be maintained to perform necessary janitorial services. Also expenses for janitorial supplies and waste removal.

☐ 18. Insurance:

A complete insurance program should be maintained. Here are some of the types which should be carried:

a. Fire insurance on building.
b. Sprinkler insurance.
c. Wind, hail, flood, earthquake, etc., insurance.
d. Insurance on materials handling equipment.
e. Boiler explosion insurance.
f. Liability insurance of various types.
g. Side-track insurance.
h. Canopy insurance.
i. Burglary, robbery, and messenger hold-up insurance.
j. Driveway insurance.
k. Riot, strike, and civil commotion insurance.

☐ 19. Compensation Insurance:

The rate of compensation insurance is a major factor in the economical operation of a warehouse. It is based on the number of employes involved and the accident experience records of the employer. To reduce the rate, the following programs should be instituted:

a. Safety program.

c. Disability insurance of a higher amount than that granted by the state.
d. Group hospitalization program for employe and dependents.
e. Group surgical and medical programs for the employe and his dependents.

☐ 21. Other Insurance:

Fidelity bonds should be acquired for each employe. It is also advisable that burglary insurance and many other types of insurance be carried. Proper supervision of the insurance must be maintained since requirements are changing continuously.

☐ 22. Watchmen and Guards:

There is the problem of hiring and training proper personnel to act as watchmen and guards.

☐ 23. Transportation Services:

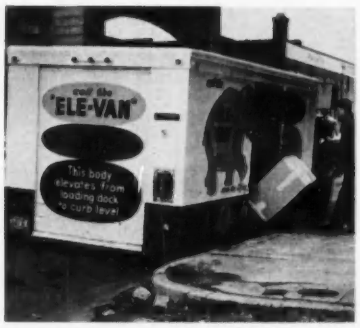
c. Maintenance equipment and personnel.
d. Operating personnel.
e. Taxes, insurance, etc.

No matter what type and mode of transportation are selected, provisions must be made for traffic functions within the area of transportation. They include in part:

a. Rate and tariff determination.
b. Route selection.
c. Loss and damage prevention.
d. Demurrage control. ●

Elevating Truck



Quick responding hydraulic lifts allow this truck to elevate to any height from curb level to loading dock. One-way streets and congested areas are not a problem because winches and mechanical lifts are not needed. Fuchs Transfer Co. uses this truck to service its customers in the Baltimore, Md., area. Deliveries can be made from side or rear

Dravo Corp. designed the tug with twin rudders for complete astern steering control and the conventional rudder for steering ahead. Tested bollard pull ahead is rated at 55,000 lb

Terms and Conditions of Storage

ALL PUBLIC warehouse receipts, either negotiable or non-negotiable, are subject to the following terms and conditions.

1. Tender for Storage: (a) All goods for storage shall be delivered at the warehouse properly marked and packed for handling. The storer shall furnish, at or prior to such delivery, a manifest showing marks, brands, or sizes to be kept and accounted for separately and the class of storage desired. Otherwise the goods may be stored in bulk or assorted lots, in freezer, cooler, or general storage at the discretion of the warehouseman and will be charged for accordingly.

(b) The word "lot" as used herein means the unit or units of goods for which a separate account is to be kept by the warehouseman. Delivery of all or any units of a lot shall not be made without subsequent sorting except by special arrangement and subject to a charge.

(c) The warehouseman undertakes to store and deliver the goods only in the packages in which they are originally received. Note: This provision is modified often to permit warehousemen to make less-than-full-package deliveries.

2. Storage Period: (a) All goods are stored on a month-to-month basis, unless otherwise provided. A storage month shall extend from a date in one calendar month to, but not including, the same date of the next and all succeeding calendar months. But if there be no corresponding date in the next succeeding calendar month, it shall extend to and include the last day of that month.

When the last day of a final storage month falls on Sunday or a legal holiday, the storage month shall be deemed to expire on the next succeeding business day. (b) Except where other procedures are provided by the Uniform Warehouse Receipts Act, the warehouseman may, upon written notice to the storer of record and to any other person known by the warehouseman to claim an interest in the goods, require the removal of any goods by the end of the next succeeding storage month.

Such notice shall be given by delivery in person or by registered letter addressed to the last known place of business or abode of the person to be notified.

3. Insurance, Storage Rates, Expiration and Transfers: (a) All charges for storage are on a month-to-month basis unless otherwise provided. Charges for any particular lot shall begin at the receipt of the first unit of that particular lot in store and shall continue and include the storage month during which the last unit of the particular lot is delivered.

Charges shall be made on the basis of the maximum number of units in any particular lot in store during a storage month. All charges for storage are due on the first day of a storage month, and all other charges are due when incurred. (b) Instructions to transfer goods on the books of the warehouseman are not effective until delivered to and accepted by him. All charges up to the time transfer is made are chargeable to the storer of record. If a transfer is made involving rehandling of goods, it will be subject to a charge.

(c) The warehouseman reserves the right to move, at his own expense of transfer, and upon notice

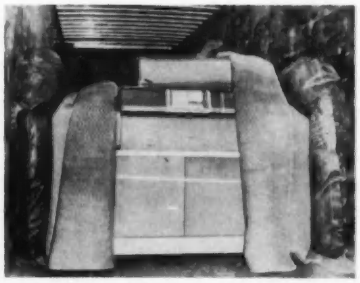
Cushions for Electronics



Inflatable cushions are now being used as dunnage with electronic shipments across the country by truck. New-Kartveyors for Shopping Areas

IN THE STORE — A speedy ride to the parking lot pick-up station begins when cart's tow pin is lowered into slot in endless conveyor chain.

OUT OF TUNNEL — Loaded carts arrive at the pick-up station where they are stored until shoppers claim them.

AT THE PICK-UP STATION — Carryout is completed at the curb. Customer gives number to attendant who rolls cart to curb and transfers the merchandise to the shopper's auto.

LINK-BELT KARTVEYOR mechanizes carryout...takes carts 200 ft. through tunnel to parcel pick-up station

With parking facilities 200 feet away, most stores would have a hard time holding customers. But just the opposite is true at this new Jewel Tea Co. supermarket in the heart of the Hillcrest shopping center, Joliet, Ill. With the Link-Belt Kartveyor system, customers don't have to lift a finger. Loaded carts ride quickly, safely from checkout counter to parcel pickup station . . . where store attendants transfer merchandise to autos.

Working together, engineers from Jewel Tea Co. and Link-Belt found this perfect answer to long-distance carryout in Link-Belt's complete materials handling equipment line. If you have a handling problem — in store or warehouse or plant—write LINK-BELT COMPANY, Dept. AV, Prudential Plaza, Chicago 1, Illinois. Ask for our Book No. 2753, "Link-Belt at Work."

sent by registered mail to the storer of record and to the last known holder of the negotiable warehouse receipt, any goods in storage from any room of the warehouse in which they may be stored to any other of his rooms or warehouses. But if such storer or holder takes delivery of his goods in lieu of transfer, no storage charges shall be made for the current storage month.

(d) When rates are quoted by weight, they will, unless otherwise specified, be computed on gross weight, and 2000 lb shall constitute a ton.

(e) Goods are not insured nor do storage rates include insurance unless so specified in writing. (In any state requiring insurance by statute, the words "or required by statute" would be considered a part of the standard terms and conditions.)

4. Handling: (a) Handling charges cover the ordinary labor and duties incidental to receiving goods at the warehouse door, stowing them, and returning them to the warehouse door. But they do not include unloading or loading of cars, vessels, or vehicles unless so specified. Handling charges will be billed with the storage for the first month. (b) Goods, at the request of a storer, received or delivered during other than usual business hours will be subject to an additional charge.

5. Car Unloading and Loading: (a) Charges for unloading or loading cars include use of switch track, labor required to or from warehouse door, and billing of car. (b) Dunnage and fastenings supplied by the warehouseman and used in loading out cars are chargeable to the storer. (c) Any additional costs incurred by the warehouseman in unloading cars containing damaged goods are chargeable to storer. (d) The warehouseman, unless he has failed to exercise due care and diligence, shall not be responsible for demurrage, nor for delays in obtaining cars for outbound shipments.

6. Delivery Requirements: (a) No goods shall be delivered or transferred except upon receipt by the warehouseman of complete instructions properly signed by the storer. (b) When a negotiable receipt has been issued, no goods covered by that receipt shall be delivered or transferred on the books of the warehouseman unless the receipt, properly indorsed, is surrendered for cancellation or for indorsement of partial delivery thereon.

(c) When goods are ordered out, a reasonable time shall be given the warehouseman to carry out instructions. If he is unable, due to causes beyond his control, to effect delivery before expiring storage dates, the goods will be subject to charges for another storage month. This is true except when the warehouseman has given notice in accordance with the provisions of section 2b, or because of fire, Acts of God, war, public enemies, seizure under legal process, strikes or lockouts, riots, and civil commotions. If he is unable, due to causes beyond his control, to effect delivery before the expiring date, the goods shall be subject to storage charges for only that part of the month during which the goods remain in store.

7. Bonded Storage: A charge in addition to regular rates will be made for merchandise in bond.

8. Minimum Charges: A minimum charge will be assessed for storage, handling, and other services.

9. Extra Service: (a) Extra services in the interest of the storer such as special warehousing space, material, drayage, repairing, coopering, sampling, weighing, repiling, inspection, physical warehouse checking, compiling stock statements, collections, revenue stamps, reporting marked weights or numbers, handling railroad expense bills are all chargeable to the storer.

(b) Stock statements submitted in duplicate by the storer will be checked with the books of the warehouseman without charge. (c) Shipping includes marking, tagging, billing, procuring, and forwarding bills of lading. It is chargeable to the storer. (d) Freight and other disbursements made on behalf of the storer are due and payable on demand and subject to interest from date billed by the warehouseman. (e) Storers, including holders of negotiable receipts, may, subject to insurance regulations and reasonable limitations, have access to their goods in store when accompanied by a warehouse employe whose time is chargeable to the storer.

10. Liability: (a) The responsibility of a warehouseman, in the absence of written provisions, is the reasonable care and diligence required by law. (b) Perishable goods, or goods which are susceptible to damage through temperature changes or other causes incident to general storage, are accepted in general storage only at owner's risk for such damages as might result from general storage conditions.

11. Schedule or Charges: Whenever possible provision is made in these standard contract terms and conditions for a charge or charges by the warehouseman, such charges or charge will conform to the warehouseman's tariff in effect at the time the charge accrues or the service is performed, except that no increase in charges within the direct control of the warehouseman will be made on goods that are in storage without a 30-day notice mailed to the storer of record. ●

Old Meets New

Old and new modes of transport were recently brought into contrast as a shipment of 20 Cadillac 1911 replicas were readied for flight by United Air Lines. The cars were ordered by a Denver, Colo., amusement park

NATIONWIDE SCHEDULED SERVICE

TIME works so closely with these interline carriers that service between points in 35 states is maintained day after day on schedule.

Instead of "trading" your freight, TIME chooses its interlines with great care, then coordinates its operations so that you can always depend on your TIME Schedule for off-line points just as you do for direct service points.

P.S. For freight originating off TIME's direct authority, specify the carrier listed at left which serves your city for service that's so dependable, it's SCHEDULED.

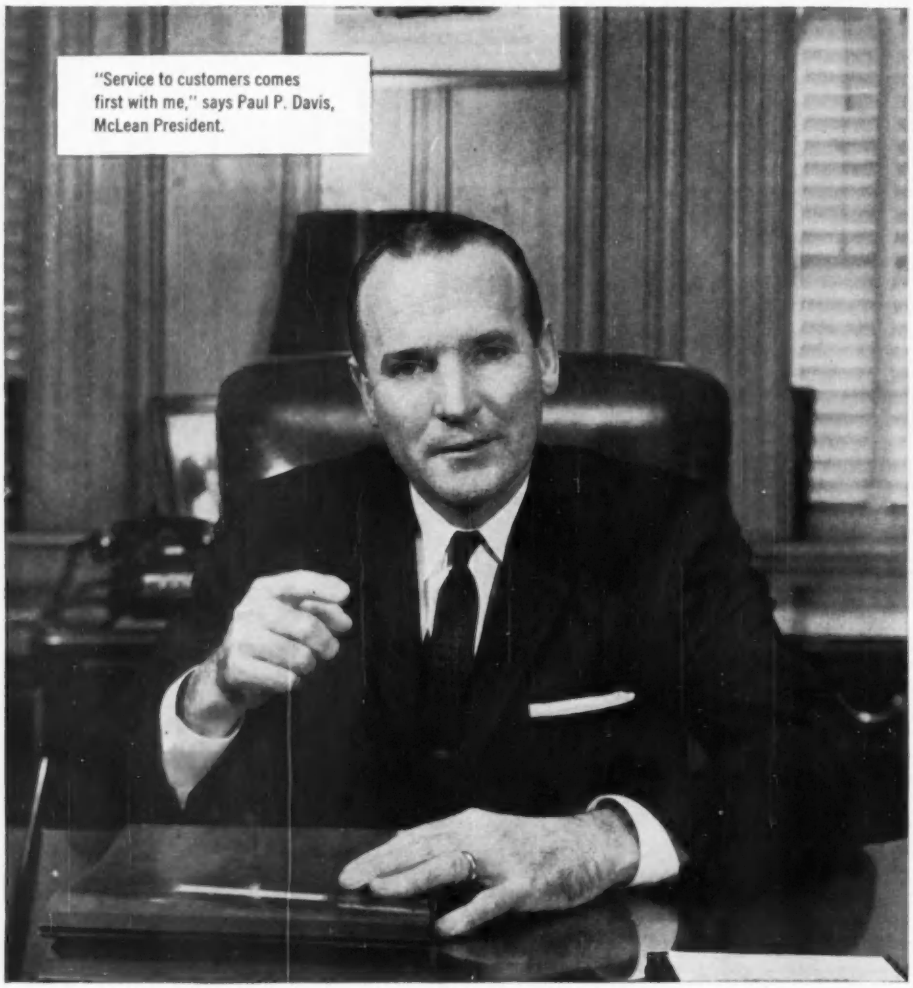
MATERIALS HANDLING BOOKINGS



"Service to customers comes first with me," says Paul P. Davis, McLean President.

"McLean and Hayes have your interests at heart in every phase of the operation!"

All of us at McLean Trucking Company and Hayes Freight Lines could not be more serious, or more sincere, when we say, "Service to customers comes first with me!" This phrase illustrates our realization that we owe our very existence to your approval of our "brand" of transportation service. Whether your traffic involves truck loads or small LTL shipments, we exert every skill and talent we have acquired and developed in more than a quarter of a century in the trucking business to provide the kind of transportation you need and want.

Along the Eastern Seaboard, in the Central States and the Midwest, McLean and Hayes are anxious to serve you. There's a nearby terminal, staffed with qualified people who have your interests at heart. Put their "know-how" to work on your transportation requirements. If you need information from my desk at any time, at the McLean general offices in Winston-Salem, I would be delighted to hear from you.

Population on the Move

Provisional estimates of the total and civilian population of state and selected outlying areas of the United States are found on this and following chart. Note especially the columns showing increases and decreases.

In this chart compiled by the U. S. Department of Commerce, total population figures include persons in the Armed Forces stationed in each state. Members of the Armed Forces abroad are excluded. Each estimate has been independently rounded to the nearest thousand (nearest hundred for American Samoa) from figures computed to the last digit. The sums of the parts may differ slightly from the totals.

Amounts and percents of change are based on unrounded numbers. The figures for United States, the West, and the Pacific Division for July 1, 1959, include Alaska and exclude Hawaii. Those for July 1, 1958, and April 1, 1950, exclude Alaska and Hawaii, in accordance with the status of these areas on these dates.

SOMETHING NEW IN RAILROADING...

"CREATIVE CREWS"

How they turned a car-tracing table into a whole new concept of car-control

IT'S CALLED CAR-SCOPE!

All we asked for was a car-tracing table.

We gave the assignment to one of our Creative Crews, requesting an extra-efficient set-up.

The men in this particular Creative Crew come from different departments of the Milwaukee Road. From Traffic, Rates, Operation, Accounting. They have special skills and, like all of our Creative Crews, they applied fresh, new, imaginative thinking to the problem.

They came up with a fresh, new, imaginative solution —CAR-SCOPE.

Instead of just a car-tracing table, they built a whole new department for you! With a phone call to this one department, shippers now can order special type cars, trace, expedite, divert or reconsign any one of 50,000 carload shipments rolling over our roadbed every day. Tracing your car is only a matter of minutes. Diversion of the Milwaukee Road

or reconsignment can be effected at your request, in the same short period of time.

Most important and unusual, our new Central Freight Service Department is staffed with specialists. When you call with a problem, a qualified person is put to work on it. He knows what you're talking about because he has had in-the-field experience with exactly that type of problem. He works for you and with you.

This combination—of a central unit to perform all 5 vital functions, and the staffing of that unit with expert help instead of clerks alone—adds up to a new concept of control over carload shipments. You get the benefits! You make the savings. You exercise the control!

CAR-SCOPE is the kind of forward-looking, creative way of doing business that has made the Milwaukee Road America's resourceful railroad.

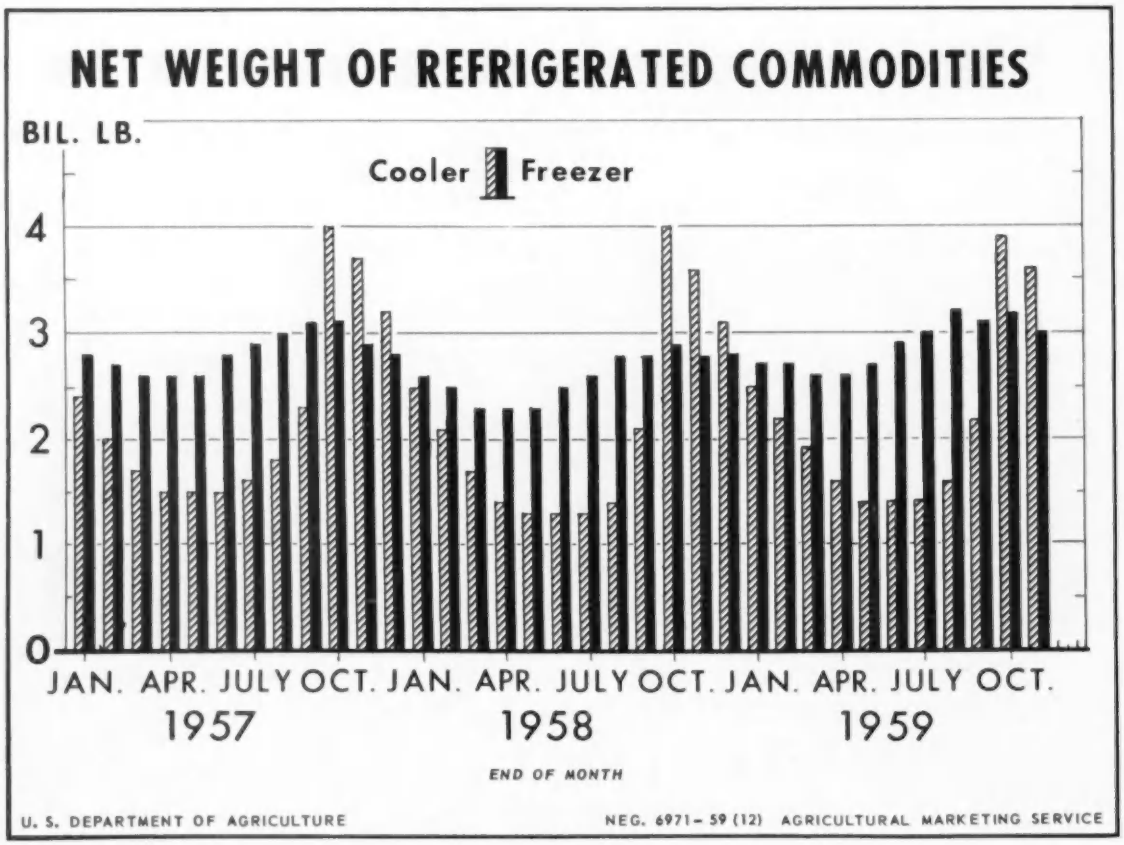
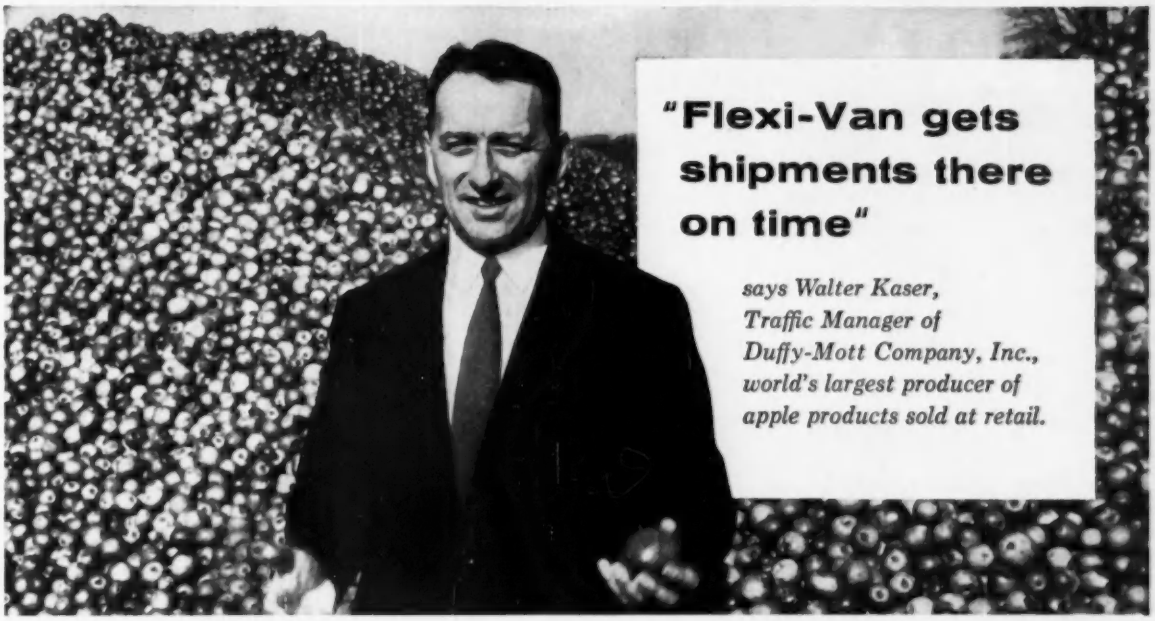
A Report on Storage in Refrigerated Warehouses

REFRIGERATION facilities—both coolers and freezers—play an increasingly important role in the economy of the U. S. The importance of this service can be made clear by a study of the charts and tables published on this and the following pages. These data were prepared by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Agricultural Marketing Service, Agricultural Estimates Division.

Reporting on the month of November, the USDA said that commodity weights in both cooler and freezer space declined. A decrease of 9 per cent brought the product weight in cooler space down to 3.6 billion pounds. Reductions in stocks of fresh fruit, milk, cheese, and shell eggs were more than sufficient to offset gains in stocks of other cooler-stored items. Reductions in freezer holdings of cream, butter, frozen eggs, poultry, fruits, juices, and vegetables outweighed increases in stocks of red meats and miscellaneous freezer products. The resultant change in total product weight in freezers was a drop of 4 per cent which left 3 billion pounds in storage.

Frozen orange concentrate stocks of about 20 million gallons were the largest ever for Dec. 1. Fresh apple stocks were lower than a year ago, amounting to 44 million bushels. Frozen vegetable holdings totaled 906 million pounds, down 25 million from a month earlier. Frozen fruit holdings totaled 491 million pounds. This compares with 512 million a year ago. These and many other figures are incorporated in this report which gives you an inside view of the cold storage industry. ●





"Flexi-Van gets shipments there on time" says Walter Kaser, Traffic Manager of Duffy-Mott Company, Inc., world's largest producer of apple products sold at retail.

The Duffy-Mott plant is modern and highly efficient. In 42 minutes these apples will have been peeled, cored, made into sauce and sealed in jars.

"When a customer advertises a sale of apple sauce, he's got to know the goods will be there on time. Flexi-Van gives us on-schedule deliveries. And he doesn't want a lot of broken jars. Flexi-Van has a remarkably low damage factor. Those two pluses are why we are using Flexi-Van on so many of our shipments.

"Flexi-Van gives us door-to-door delivery convenience, with four delivery stops allowed; and the cost is as low as the lowest truck rate."

Most Duffy-Mott products, including Sunsweet Prune products and Clapp's Baby Foods, are packed in glass. Flexi-Van's low damage rate is important.

A large part of Duffy-Mott's production now goes by Flexi-Van, for delivery both to warehouses and direct to their customers.

WASHINGTON-BALTIMORE-BUFFALO

"On the Seaboard!"

From the Potomac and Chesapeake Bay to Lake Erie represents a sizeable piece of geography, yet it is only a small part of the national nature of Seaboard service, geared to give shippers the same promptness and efficiency as if cities such as Washington, Baltimore and Buffalo were actually "On the Seaboard."

Our representatives are genuinely interested in obtaining — and holding — your business. They know this can be done only by working closely with you in every phase of your transportation needs. They know the importance of following through.

They can also have you supplied with pertinent, usable information concerning choice plant sites in the Seaboard Southeast, if your organization plans to grow with this flourishing territory.

Ask them also about our new, and rapidly expanding, Piggyback service between the North and key Seaboard points.

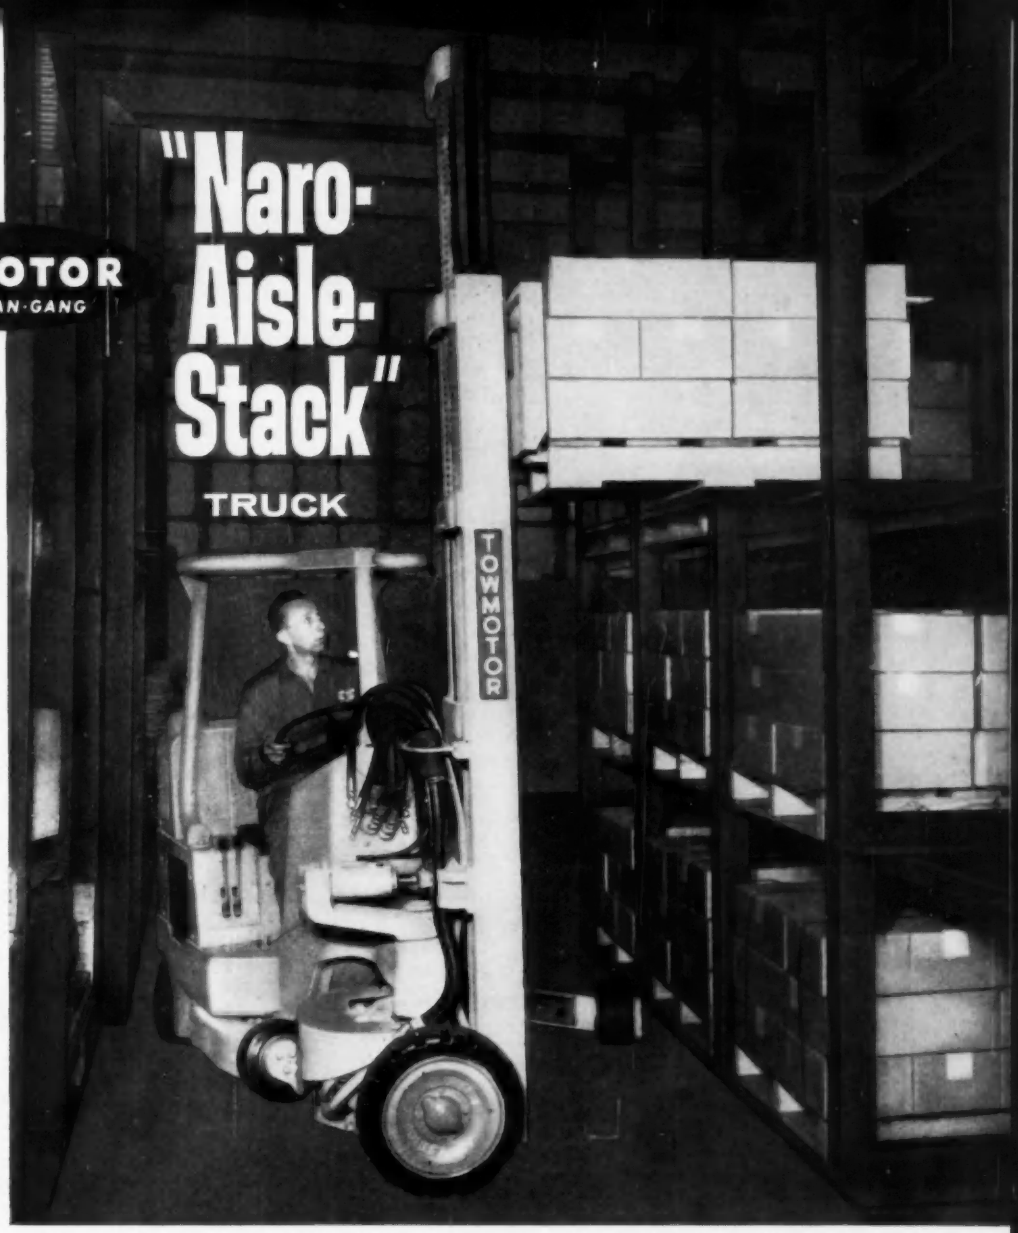
TOWMOTOR
THE ONE-MAN-GANG

"Naro-Aisle-Stack" TRUCK



Increases storage capacity up to 35% . . . gives you an "extra warehouse" free

Stacks either side in 6-foot aisles...

Newest idea in fork lift trucks!

...also performs like standard lift trucks

The "Naro-Aisle-Stack" series is a Towmotor "first" that offers an entirely new mass handling technique in fork lift truck operation.

Equipped with hydraulically operated outriggers, Towmotor "Naro-Aisle-Stack" trucks perform right and left angle stacking in aisles 6 feet wide, or from four to six feet narrower than lift trucks usually require.

In addition, they also perform all of the functions of a regular fork lift truck. They pick up and lift heavy loads at speeds of 70 feet per minute. Their built-in maneuverability and pivot-action make it possible to operate in congested storage areas and turn sharp corners with the agility, safety and comfort only a sit-down type truck offers.

The new Towmotor "Naro-Aisle-Stack" truck is made possible only by the use of the exclusive Towmotor Towmostatic Drive—the drive that eliminates the clutch, the transmission, the drive line, the differential and all shifting mechanism. It's a brand new idea in fast, efficient materials handling.

For complete information, write Towmotor Corporation, Cleveland 10, Ohio, and ask for folder No. F-37.

RAYMOND

Reach-Fork

ELECTRIC TIERING TRUCK

2000 or 3000 lb. capacities

Why build or lease additional storage when there's space to be had right in your present warehouse? The RAYMOND Reach-Fork eliminates wasteful 10 to 12-ft. aisles . . . permits you to tier in space-saving aisles as narrow as 6 ft. No special racks or pallets required because it operates from the aisle, without straddling bottom pallet. Forks extend to pick up or deposit your load . . . retract in seconds. Ideal for loading or unloading. Stacks pallets closely on racks, in truck trailers, boxcars, bulk storage areas. Safe on elevators and low-capacity floors.

WAREHOUSE SITES "STOCKPILED" on a delay-free transcontinental route!

In and around Peoria, Illinois, in the heart of the rich mid-west market, are 6400 acres of land zoned for warehousing and industrial use. Over 2700 acres of this land have been purchased and "stockpiled" by the T.P. & W. Railroad for ready availability at any time.

Unexcelled for fast network transportation by rail, water or highway, the area is fast gaining a deserved reputation as an ideal distribution center.

The Peoria area is served by 15 railroads, multi-pronged highway outlets easily accessible by way of a new Illinois River bridge-highway, an expanding air terminal, and the Illinois waterway for completely flexible transportation facilities. In rail transit particularly the location is ideal for the T.P. & W.'s direct route across the state speeds shipments without delay at congested East-West gateways.

To expedite selling and cut distribution costs, investigate Peoria as a distribution center for your products. For confidential and personal assistance write or call me at Peoria 9-3941.

Directory of Weighing Terms

Aggregate Scale—in most cases a wheelbarrow scale or sometimes a batching scale.

Applied Load—that material on the load receiving element of a scale which is required to maintain zero load balance. Material other than actual load.

Approach—in respect to a track or vehicle scale in traffic surface plus supports through or over which all vehicles shall move when entering or leaving the scale area.

Area Scale—a scale sometimes referred to as an AAR scale because its specifications conform to those established by the American Railway Engineering Association and the Association of American Railroads.

Articulated Weighbridge—the type of weighbridge which is employed along with railway track scales which have over two sections. Each girder is jointed at every intermediate section of the scale.

Automatic Conveyor Scale — the device which has the ability to totalize, automatically, the weight of material which is transported on a conveyor system.

Automatic Hopper Scale—this hopper scale automatically discharges and counts drafts of predetermined weight value.

Automatic Indicating Scale—this scale can automatically indicate weight of an applied load within the scale's normal load capacity range without requiring positioning of indicating elements by weighing personnel.

Automatic Recording Scale—one which embodies a mechanism or to which a mechanism is attached which automatically records weight of applied load via imprint on a ticket or tape.

Auxiliary Indicator—in an automatic indicating scale having a movable reading face and a fixed indicator, an additional indicator which can be independently positioned free of the real indicator for balancing tare weights. In an automatic indicating scale, in particular a dial scale, an additional indicator which is manually positionable with regard to the real indicator, provided for balancing tare weights and similar uses.

Avoirdupois System—that system of mass units for weighing all commodities other than precious stones, precious metals, and drugs commercially. The 7000-grain pound is its basic unit and is divided into 16 ounces of 437.5 grains each.

Axle Load—the load transmitted to a traffic surface, such as a scale deck or platform, by the wheels of one axle of a vehicle.

Bagging Scale—any scale which has been especially constructed or adapted for weighing materials (flour, salts, etc.) during bagging operations.

Balance Out—is sometimes referred to as backweight or backbalance. To balance out is to throw off balance by a definite amount in order that zero weight indication results when a load of that weight value is placed on the load receiving element.

Barrel Weigher—that scale, not a tierce scale, which is designed for weighing barrels. It is sometimes called a drum filling scale or a barrel scale.

Billing Weight—the weight of a quantity of material which appears on a bill of lading or an invoice used as a basis for charges.

Blade — the portion of a weighbeam from the fulcrum to the tip.

Bushel Weighbeam—a weighbeam graduated in such a way that indications are made directly in terms of bushels of standard weight.

Capacity—in respect to a scale, capacity is the heaviest load which can be placed on the load receiving element under specified conditions of concentration without causing stress not allowed or provided for in the manufacturing of the scale. Rated capacity is another term for it.

Car Dump Scale—a scale which has a car dumper as its load receiving element.

Car Retarder—especially adapted to decelerate cars by brake action against the faces of their wheels. It is permanently positioned in a piece of track and power-operated from a near-by point.

Center-Load Test—one test of a scale. The test load is centered on or in the load receiving element, as the case may be.

Certified Weight Tickets—a ticket which records the combination weight of tractor and load.

Chock—a wedge of metal, wooden, or other suitable material manually placed on a rail in front of a moving car to halt its motion. Also inserted under car or vehicle wheel to prevent it from moving, unattended. Chock is usually provided with a handle.

Compensated Spring Scale—that spring scale which has been constructed so that its weight indications are substantially independent of temperature variations.

. . . Weighing Terms

Concentrated Live Load — a live load that is, or may be considered to be, concentrated at a definite point or points on or in the load receiving element.

Constancy—in regard to a scale, it is that permanency of a condition such as the zero-load balance condition.

Conveyor Scale — one especially designed for handling individual packages or a continuous or intermittent stream as carried on a conveyor system.

Cotton Beam or Cotton Scale—a steelyard with supporting frame and lifting device adapted for weighing cotton bales.

Counterforce—the force which directly or indirectly opposes a force due to applied or dead load. Term is relative, for the tension of a steelyard rod is a counterforce as far as the shelf lever is concerned. Other terms are power, fulcrum reaction, and load.

Counterpoise—to balance, to produce equilibrium.

Counting Scale — a computing scale which indicates the number or count of things placed in or on its load receiving element or elements.

Coupled Motion Weighing—weighing of a succession of coupled cars or moving vehicles.

Crane Scale — is a scale which hangs and weighs loads while they are being handled by a crane.

Creep—in relation to certain types of springs, additional deformation without increase in applied load as a result of leaving a load on the receiving element for an extended length of time.

Dead Weight — the unrelieved weight of anything inert. The deadweight of an applied load or a dead weight used as a weight in a dead weight testing machine.

Deck—the platform at traffic level which covers the pit of a large-capacity scale. It may be the load receiving element or may be rigidly supported by the foundation.

Density—ratio of mass to volume. Relative density is specific gravity.

Destination Weight — weight of consignment of goods obtained at or near the end of transportation. Especially in connection with a carload shipment. Sometimes called outturn weight.

Dockage—a deduction from a determined weight of a quantity of material on account of included foreign matter.

Docket 9009 Scale — one which conforms to the specification approved by the ICC in its Decision in Docket 9009.

Draft—that which is weighed in one weighing operation. More especially on a large-capacity scale.

Drop Lever Scale—one which has the means for lowering levers to allow the platform to bear on parts attached to scale frame, thereby relieving the lever system of impact from too-suddenly applied loads.

Dump Scale — type of wagon or motor truck scale which allows a section of the platform to be tilted or rotated vertically within set limits to quicken discharge of material through tailgate of a vehicle. May be a scale which lifts front part of vehicle to accomplish same.

Equilibrium—the condition which occurs when indicating elements reach a position of equilibrium combined forces applied to a body produce no change in its motion.

Estimated Weight — weight of a consignment of goods which has been ascertained from a computation or by means other than weighing.

Foundry Scale — that portable, heavy-duty scale which is provided with high wheels, a tongue, and weighbeam at or below platform level.

Garner—a bin in which material is collected before weighing while a draft is being weighed and discharged from scale hopper. Position is usually above a hopper scale.

Gross Ton—a long ton.

Gross Weight—weight of a quantity of material which includes container, wrapping or vehicle containing the goods. Total weight of merchandise without deduction for tare, dunnage, or waste.

Hanging Scale—any scale which is designed to be hung from some overhead support. The load receiving element is suspended from the scale. Smaller capacities are usually of the dial face variety.

Hopper Scale—one designed for weighing of granular material in bulk. Its load receiving element is a self-cleaning hopper with outlet gate.

Hundredweight—1/20 of a ton.

ICC Docket 9009 — action concluded before the ICC in 1920 which established specifications and tolerances for scales in grain-weighing service. Also rules for handling of grain during transportation and of any claims arising from such transportation.

Impact—is the dynamic effect of a live load.

Larry Scale — a scale, usually a hopper scale, which is mounted on structural framework with the complete assembly movable along a permanent track. It is sometimes referred to as a lorry scale.

Letter Scale — a postal scale of about a 9 oz capacity.

Lever System—refers to the aggregation of live parts between the load receiving element and the steelyard rod in a compound lever scale. Sometimes also called arm ratio, multiple, count, power, or ratio.

Light-Weigh—to ascertain weight of any empty container or vehicle, more especially in railway practice to discover weight of an empty freight car.

Live—external forces applied to a live part will affect the weight indication or the weighbeam sensitiveness. The load receiving element and lever system are live parts.

Long Ton — 2240 lb avoirdupois equal to 20 long hundredweights. It is also called a gross ton.

Marked Tare—weight of an empty vehicle or container as shown on its surface.

Mean—the sum of any of values of the same kind, divided by the number of the values; the average. When the values are supposed to have the same sign, the sum is known as the arithmetic sum and the mean as the arithmetic mean. Fire—A Constant Danger

Phenomena which cause fires are often found in the least expected areas of warehouse, plant, etc. Keep a constant look-out for these danger spots which so often spawn fires

Waste paper: should be baled and disposed of promptly. Care should be taken that cigarettes or greasy lunch papers are not left among waste.

Packing material: that is combustible should be kept in standard bins. They are designed to hold at least one large bale of excelsior.

Sparks from machinery: may be caused by friction between metal parts, disalignment, or breakage. Combustible material near machine may ignite. Non-sparking metals should be placed at contact points on moving parts.

Bearings: give trouble by overheating. All bearings should be kept free of dust and grime.

Drip pans: used for catching drip from machinery should be kept clean. Use sand to absorb oil, but renew frequently. Mix sawdust with boric acid.

Focused rays: are sun rays focused by bubbles in glass.

Spark sources: from pipeless furnaces, hot air systems, or charging floors.

Air conditioning filters: are subject to ignition from sparks either from the internal apparatus or by being sucked in from the outside.

Defective chimneys and flues: act as a passageway connecting the source of heat with the outer air. Soot and dirt accumulation in chimneys may ignite and cause very intense fires.

Ignition of hot tar, asphalt: usually occurs when flames or open lights are put in contact with them.

Rubbish and litter: are breeders of fires.

Lubrication: should be investigated as a means for reducing harmful friction and as a primary cause of fire when improperly stored. Maintenance is good housekeeping, for cleanliness of all lubricating devices is essential. They must be kept free of dust and lint and coating due to evaporation of solvents used in the processes such as coating, flocking, or festooning.

Self-service gasoline stations: require that a qualified attendant always be present where motor fuel is dispensed; determine a minimum degree of supervision over the customer by attendant; and must have an assured means whereby the right to refuse self-service is reserved to the attendant when the customer is incompetent, for any reason, to service his own vehicle. Tanks should be underground. There should be a remote control for shut-off of any motor fuel dispensing device.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Material for this page is presented in excerpt fashion from Fire Prevention and Protection Fundamentals, a book by Gilbert E. Stecker, published by Chilton Company, Inc. Copies of the book may be ordered at $15 each by ordering through the Editor, Distribution Age, 56th & Chestnut Sts., Philadelphia 39, Pa.

Hot ashes and coals: involve direct ignition from flaming or glowing material. Ashes or coals removed from furnaces contain sufficient heat, and in many cases visible fire, to ignite material with which they come in contact. Placing them in or permitting them to rest on metal covered wood is inviting disaster.

Annealing furnaces: are usually of brick lined with refractory bricks or diatomaceous earth bricks. They run high temperatures and are coal, gas, or electrically heated. The delivery end is usually the hottest. Clearances must be maintained. If electrically heated, control apparatus must be of temperature type to avoid overheating and be equipped with pilot lights.

Lumber dryers: are usually of brick or metal and wood. They become coated with resinous distillate. Steam jets or fog, manually or automatically controlled, should be installed.

Static sparks: can be avoided by grounding all moving parts of a machine. Sparks can be generated in dust which is in motion as well as in mills employing spinning and weaving operations. The usual method of prevention of grounding can be aided by applied humidity at seasons when humidity is low. A normal amount of carbon dioxide must be present to make humidification effective.

Electrical Hazard Check List

• Flammable vapors, gases, volatile liquids: If your plant uses any of these you have a potential hazard. Be certain. Many substances not usually thought to be flammable are flammable under certain conditions—which may be present in your plant. Check those plant processes which release flammable gases or vapors, even momentarily. However rare the condition might be—once is too often.

• Electrical equipment in hazardous areas: If the equipment is over 30 years old, chances are dangerously high that it is not explosion-proof. Little explosion-proof equipment was available before 1930.

• Match equipment with gas or vapor: Check to see whether the explosion-proof electrical equipment in each hazardous area of your plant is designed for that area. Equipment designed for use with one group of gases or vapors is often unsafe in the presence of others—according to Underwriters' Laboratories tests.

• Check safety of new locations: If an operation involving flammable materials has been moved into an area not previously electrically explosion-proof, check such overlooked items as lighting switches, telephones, warning lights.

• Gasketed joint equipment: Gasketed joints are not explosion-proof and should be replaced at once on your explosion-proof electrical equipment.

• New solvents, gases, vapors: If you have been using new or different types of solvents, gases or vapors in processes during the past year, analyze their characteristics in relation to flash point, ignition temperature, etc. Get firm classification—are they hazardous or non-hazardous?

• Electrical conduits: Electrical conduits connecting hazardous and non-hazardous areas must be sealed off without exception. All conduits connecting explosion-proof switches and circuit breakers must be sealed. Otherwise they act as a long fuse. Seals confine an explosion in an arcing device to prevent spreading to other parts of the conduit system.

• Combustible dusts: Suspension in air of sufficient tiny dust particles can form a mixture as explosive as many vapors or gases. Some of the dusts are starch, wood flour, aluminum powder, dried egg and milk powders, potato flour.

• High surface temperatures: High surface temperatures cause drying and carbonization of settled dusts which can lead to combustion. Use dust-tight electrical equipment constructed to dissipate heat rapidly preventing high surface temperatures even when blanketed with dust and functioning at full rate.

• Proper inspection: A fire insurance company should make a thorough investigation of your warehouse's electrical system at least once every two years or whenever there is a change in layout, equipment, processes, or materials.

Fire doors are designed to provide effective closure of openings in walls and partitions against fire. There are several types of doors available.

Composite type: usually of flush design and core material with chemically-impregnated wood edge banding and untreated wood surface veneers or encased in steel or aluminum.

Dumbwaiter type: both counterbalanced and swinging types. Flush design formed steel including wall guides, frame latching, counterbalancing mechanisms.

Chute type: of intake and discharge types made of formed steel with frame, latching, closing mechanisms.

Hollow-metal type: of formed steel —flush and paneled design.

Metal-clad type: consist of metal-covered wood members.

Plate steel type: consist of steel plates secured to a steel frame. Used in openings into compartments not exceeding 3000 cu ft in warehouses used for household furniture.

Sheet metal type: formed steel of corrugated, flush, and paneled designs.

This year, rats and other rodents will cause more than $2.5 billion in damage to stored goods. Aside from the usual waste caused by rats, it must be remembered that a nibble on an electrical circuit can raze a building to the ground. There are several successful means of eliminating or controlling rats.

Mickey Finn: Warfarin placed in permanent wooden bait sections locked, but with a hole for rat entry.

Pink Lady: ½ lb warfarin concentrate with 2½ lb rolled oats, mix in 4½ lb freshly ground cornmeal and 2 lb cake doughnut flour, ½ lb confectioner's sugar, and pour in ½ pt of corn oil. Stir.

Stinger: one part warfarin added to one part pival mixed with one part antu and bran.

As many as 65 rats have been counted in a single kill resulting from one of these "treatments." If burrows are in evidence, dust them occasionally with cyanogas dust. Eradicators should be placed near walls with a shallow pan of water nearby—rats get thirsty when they feed.

Dangerous Article Storage

Red Label

SPECIAL labels, required by ICC on dangerous shipments moving in Interstate Commerce, serve as warnings throughout the distribution cycle. Warehousemen, in particular, benefit from special labels in planning for storage of dangerous commodities and planning outbound loads.

This guide provides only a brief outline of the information available on special-label materials. The American Trucking Associations, Inc., publishes a complete tariff, "Motor Carriers — Explosive and Dangerous Articles, Tariff No. 10," for $4 and a shorter guide, "Dangerous Article Handling," which costs $1. A comparable volume for commodities moving by rail is the "Railroad Dangerous Commodity Tariff." These publications will add detailed information for warehouses which regularly handle these products.

Each label presented in this section covers certain articles and demands precautions which others do not.

Red label consists of flammable liquids. Extreme care should be used when storing this material. Keep fire away. Prevent persons in the area from smoking, lighting matches, or carrying any flame. Be careful of heaters and automatic refrigeration units, too.

When storing via fork truck, avoid any jarring motion during placement. Containers with valves or other fittings should be stored so that these devices are not harmed. Keep them away from daily traffic lanes. Matches of any character must not be stored next to packages bearing a red label. Articles should be placed to allow sufficient ventilation as insurance against spontaneous combustion.

Charcoal screenings, or ground, crushed, granulated, or pulverized charcoal in bags should be stored horizontally. There should be spaces for effective air circulation. Floors should be free of protruding objects and all debris. Hazardous storage locations for flammable liquids include atmospheres containing acetylene, hydrogen or manufactured gas, ethyl ether vapor, gasoline, petroleum, naphtha, alcohol, lacquer, solvent vapors, natural gas, metal dust, carbon black, coal or coke dust, or grain dusts. Also beware of locations handling ignitable fibres, combustible flyings, or where easily ignitable combustible fibres are stored.

In the event that a leaking package or container cannot be safely or adequately repaired, it should be stored pending proper disposition in the safest and most expeditious manner possible.

The hazards of flammable gases are generally similar to that of flammable liquids. Main hazard attending gases is the possibility of their escape into the atmosphere to form explosive mixtures.

All electrical equipment should be grounded. Oily rags, refuse,

Yellow Label

Yellow label goods are flammable solids other than explosives. Extra precautions should be taken to prevent wetting them. They are liable to cause fires through friction, absorption of moisture, spontaneous chemical changes, or as a result of retained heat from the manufacturing or processing of the commodity. Oxidizing materials (substances which yield oxygen readily to stimulate combustion of organic matter) are also yellow label. They become more hazardous when wet.

Examples of such materials include charcoal screenings, hair, felt, jute, and other fibrous materials. All electrical equipment should be grounded. Guard against extreme changes in temperature. Insure adequate ventilation between units. Keep fire away and prevent all persons in the vicinity from lighting matches or carrying any lighted flame.

Matches must not be stored next to red label units. No tools which are likely to damage the effectiveness of the closure of any package or container, or likely to adversely affect such package or container, should be used to move any dangerous article.

Ignition

The ease of ignition of magnesium depends upon the size and shape of the material as well as the size or intensity of the source of ignition. The combustibility of magnesium, the ineffectiveness of ordinary extinguishing agents on magnesium fires, plus the fact that under certain conditions the application of such agents intensifies burning and can release hydrogen to form an explosive gas-air mixture, all combine to create serious fire and explosion hazards.

Compressed gas (any material with a gage pressure exceeding 40 lb psi at 70 deg F, or any liquid flammable material having a Reid vapor pressure exceeding 40 lb psi, absolute, at 100 deg F) cylinders should be stored so that accidental jarring or overturning is avoided.

Grounding

Electrical equipment in the area should be grounded. Compressed gas loading should be accomplished in the following manner: Cylinders should be loaded in a horizontal position unless they are packed in crates or boxes which will prevent their overturning or unless they are lashed securely in an upright position or loaded into racks which have been specially attached to the motor vehicle.

Tanks, drums, and cylinders should be reasonably secured against movement within the motor vehicle during transport and against relative movement between each other. Such motion could easily create the necessary friction for explosion or cause damage to valves and fitting, resulting in dangerous leakage.

HOW MUCH CAN YOU SLASH YOUR COMPANY'S

Considerably— when you ship via Federal Barge Lines! It depends on what you ship, where you ship, and how much you ship . . . the point is that you may be losing money now by not taking advantage of FBL's lower rates on bargeload, carload, and truckload shipments.

There's no mystery why FBL rates are lower. Barge Transportation always has been the most economical way to move goods. Lower operational costs benefit shippers in the form of lower freight bills.

Even if you or your destination are not located on the waterways, you can still save with Federal's convenient joint rail-water and truck-water rates.

Corrosive liquids are those liqids which will cause severe damage to living tissue and to freight by chemical action when in contact therewith. These liquids may also cause fire when they come in contact with organic matter or with certain chemicals. Loading-wise, carboys and frangible containers of acids or other corrosive liquids, including charged electric storage batteries, should, when loaded by hand, be individually loaded into and unloaded from any motor vehicle in which they are to be, or have been, transported.

All reasonable precautions should be taken to prevent the dropping of any such containers containing corrosive liquids. No such container or battery should be loaded onto an uneven surface.

Carboys and frangible containers of acids and charged electric storage batteries shall be individually handled when loaded or unloaded by hand. Such containers may be loaded in tiers if the weight of the upper tiers is upon the crates or boxes enclosing the containers and not upon the containers.

Storage Batteries

Electric storage batteries containing electrolyte must be protected against short circuits and against other lading falling against them. Batteries may be loaded higher than one tier provided none of the weight from the upper tiers rests on the lower tiers.

Poison Label

Poisons include extremely dangerous poisonous gases or liquids of such nature that a very small amount of gas, or vapor of the liquid, mixed with air, is dangerous to life. Also less dangerous poisonous liquids or solids (including pastes or semi-liquids) which are chiefly dangerous by external contact with the body or by being taken internally, as in contaminated foods or feeds. The vapors of some of these poisons are offensive and dangerous.

Be careful of tear gas or irritating substances in liquid or solid form which give off dangerous or intensely irritating fumes when exposed to air or upon contact with fire. Radioactive materials are substances which spontaneously emit radiation which is capable of penetrating and severely damaging living tissue and surrounding shipments.

Care should be used in the loading and unloading of arsenical dust, arsenic trioxide, and sodium arsenate in sift-proof steel hopper-type or dump-type motor vehicle bodies equipped with waterproof, dustproof covers well secured in place on all openings. Poison gases must be kept cool.

Care should be taken in loading and unloading poisonous solids to prevent undue spontaneous heating. Requirements for loading and unloading gaseous poisons are no less stringent than those for compressed gases.

Any articles bearing labels indicating poisonous contents must not be dropped.

How to Lift Manually

One work injury out of four results from poor handling of materials. When you straighten up from a bent over position, the strain on muscles, vertebrae, ligaments, and discs can amount to a quarter of a ton. If you lift with your back at the same time the weight of the object is multiplied by fifteen. Since we bring these muscular aches and pains on ourselves, the best medicine is a dose of prevention. These lifting methods can save you a lot of pain and doctor bills

DO

1. Inspect load to make sure you can handle it yourself. Decide best way to grasp it.

2. Get a firm footing close to object to be lifted, put feet the length of a shoe apart for balance.

3. Bend knees and crouch down to the object.

4. Keep your back almost vertical and your feet apart.

5. Get a firm grip.

6. Straighten knees slowly, rise, keeping load close to your body and directly over your feet.

7. Lower the load the way you lifted it, but in reverse.

8. Lift the load waist high and rest it on a support to get a grip before raising it shoulder height. Bend knees to give added power for final lift.

9. Rest frequently when carrying load for long time.

10. Stop, reduce load by making several trips. Get help when you feel strain or pull.

11. Grasp sacked material by diagonal corners and swing to one shoulder with a boost from your knee.

"Bend to the Oars" Morse Tells Merchant Marine

In a year-end statement of activity of the nation's Merchant Marine, Clarence G. Morse warned that "unless we want to fall farther behind in 1970, we had better start to bend to the oars right now."

The chairman of the Federal Maritime Board and Maritime Administrator for the Department of Commerce noted that all was not bright in U. S. flag shipping and that problems of tanker employment, ship replacement, and proper regulation posed serious and complex questions with which to grapple.

Morse said that the "problems of American shipping must be faced up to boldly, imaginatively, and without costly and useless delay. Enlightened self interest on the part of our nation has dictated, through the 1936 Act, the necessity of an American Merchant Marine.

"We must continue to apply ourselves in the years ahead to the vital necessity of staying on the ocean," Morse said.

Frantz of ATA Sees Study As Repeat of Weeks Report

Welby M. Frantz, president of the American Trucking Associations, Inc., predicted recently that the soon-to-be-released Commerce Department study of transportation will be a "repeat performance" of the 1955 Weeks Report.

The Weeks Report was created by a cabinet committee headed by the then secretary of commerce, Sinclair Weeks. Frantz made his remarks before a meeting of the California Trucking Associations and said that the repeat performance would have "some changes in the script and cast."

Rental Increases Predicted

The company-owned auto fleet will virtually disappear during the 1960's and will be replaced by leased fleets. This prediction was heard at the Annual Convention of the American Automotive Leasing Association. It was made by A. J. Schoen, president of Wheels, Inc., Chicago. Schoen reported that in the past decade, leased fleets for salesmen have become the main form of transportation in 10 major industries. Leased auto fleets now outnumber company-owned fleets in all industries combined, he added.

WITHIN THE LAW

WAREHOUSING

When is a warehouseman liable for deterioration of goods in cold storage?

A higher court has rendered an important decision to the effect that a warehouseman never is liable for deterioration of merchandise in cold storage unless the testimony clearly proves that the warehouseman was negligent, or breached his storage contract.

For illustration, in 320 Pac. (2d) 583, a warehouse was sued for damage to stored grapes. The owner of the grapes alleged that the warehouse company had breached its storage contract to gas the grapes every 10 days.

The jury refused to hold the warehouse liable because the owner of the grapes did not positively prove that officials of the warehouse had promised to gas the grapes at 10 day intervals, as alleged by the owner of the grapes. The higher court approved the jury's verdict.

If testimony is entirely contradictory how will the court decide the case?

A higher court rendered an important decision which explains various phases of this law, recently.

For instance, in F—— C—— Co. v. M——, 310 S. W. (2d) 770, the testimony showed that a man, named M——, ordered from the F—— C—— Co. a quantity of ready-mix concrete. He used part of the concrete in a warehouse foundation. Later he sued the company for damages and alleged that it had breached its agreement to deliver the ready-mix concrete with a strength test of 2500 lb psi, and that he discovered after the building was under construction that the concrete in the foundation was cracking.

He claimed that he had a test made which showed at test strength of less than 1700 lb psi, although the city building code required 2000 lb psi strength.

Legal counsel for the cement company contended that the concrete mix delivered was of uniform consistency and 2500 lb test strength, and that any damages were caused by M——'s failure to properly care for the concrete rather than the failure of the company to deliver the quality and strength of concrete ordered.

Although the testimony was contradictory and conflicting the jury decided that the concrete delivered to M—— was defective and held the company liable in damages to him. The higher court approved the verdict saying:

"The issue was whether the mixture had the proper amount and quality of ingredients at delivery—the potential to make the necessary strength. Appellant (cement company), through its witnesses, urged that it did have such mixture and appellee's (M——'s) witnesses contended otherwise. The law is well settled that the judgment of the jury will not be set aside if there is any evidence of a probative nature to support it."

New Brooklyn Terminal

Moore-McCormack Lines' new Brooklyn terminal juts 1470 ft into New York harbor and is claimed to be the longest aluminum-clad finger pier ever built in the U. S. Matching aluminum containerization such as this combination fishy-back and piggy-back unit helps cut cargo handling costs at the terminal

Can a warehouseman collect storage charges on goods stored without owner's authority?

Recently a higher court held that a warehouseman can collect storage charges on merchandise which he stored by implication or to prevent financial loss to the owner of the goods.

For example, in B—— v. N—— S—— Co., 326 Pac. (2d) 640, the testimony disclosed these facts: A man named B—— purchased a dwelling on the installment payment plan. He defaulted in making the agreed payments and the seller repossessed the premises. Then the seller mailed a letter notifying him that his personal property would be held for him without expense until April 19. If they failed to remove such effects by the 19th, they would be delivered to N—— S—— Co. to be stored at his expense. He failed to remove his property and, accordingly, on April 20 the goods were delivered to N—— S—— Co. and stored.

In subsequent litigation the higher court held that B—— was obligated to pay the accumulated storage charges amounting to $2,218.01 on the stored merchandise. The court said there was an implied agreement on his part to pay for the storage.

This higher court explained that a contract for storage may be either express or implied. An express contract is one, the terms of which are stated in words. An implied contract is one, the existence and terms of which are manifested by conduct or is inferred from the conduct, situation, or mutual relations of the parties, and enforced by the law on the ground of justice.

For comparison, see Y—— v.

B——, 248 P. 301, 302. This court held that where a warehouseman performs for another, with the other's knowledge, a useful service and the latter expresses no dissent, or avails himself of the service, a promise to pay the reasonable value of the services is implied.

What is the law on damage liability for injured loaned or borrowed employes?

Frequently in these pages I have explained that a warehouseman is liable in damages for negligent injuries to any person or employe over whom he exerts control. However, generally speaking, this law is somewhat difficult for the average warehouseman to understand. Recently a higher court rendered a rather complex decision clearly explaining all details of the law on this subject.

For illustration, in D—— v. H—— W—— Co., 332 Pac. (2d) 422, the testimony showed facts, as follows: The B—— P—— Co. leased its warehouse to H—— W—— Co., an operator of bonded warehouses. It was agreed between the parties that H—— could store the products of firms other than B—— P—— Co. in the warehouse. To operate the warehouse H—— employed M—— B—— who had been in the employment of B——. M—— B—— was subject to H——'s orders, though B—— reimbursed H—— for his wages. The amount reimbursed included social security and unemployment insurance taxes. M—— B——'s primary duty was that of a watchman in the warehouse, but it was understood between H——, B—— and M—— that M—— B—— could assist B—— when it did not interfere with his duties for H——. H—— alone retained the right to discharge M—— B——.

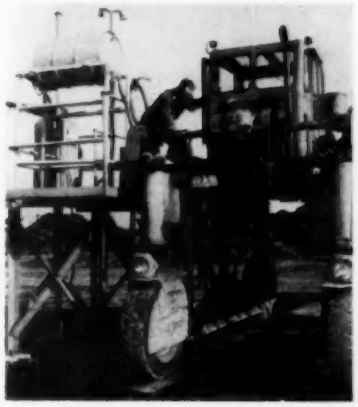
Later the B—— P—— Co. made an agreement with W—— S—— S—— Co. to clean its storage warehouse. It was agreed that B—— would clean the warehouse, which had been used for storing "paddy" rice, by removing all rice, husks and debris from the rafters and ledges of the buildings. In return B—— was entitled to all the rice it could obtain from the cleaning operation.

The warehouse was cleaned by having a worker with an air hose blow the rice from the ledges and rafters. To accomplish this a platform was constructed upon which the worker would stand while he was operating the air hose used in the cleaning operation. M—— B—— was ordered by B—— to operate a forklift truck with which the platform would be moved around the warehouse. Sometime later another man, named D——, was employed to assist in cleaning the W—— S—— S—— Co.'s warehouse. One day M—— B—— began to move the forklift truck, with the platform attached to it, so that D—— could dismount from the platform.

Before D—— could dismount, the entire platform fell forward and he was thrown to the cement floor of the warehouse. He suffered severe injuries. He sued M—— B——, H—— W—— Co.; B—— P—— Co.; and W—— S—— S—— Co. for heavy damages. The lower court held M—— B—— liable in $145,295.39 damages to D—— because he failed to appear in court and defend the suit. Also, the lower court held the H—— W—— Co.; B—— P—— Co.; and the W—— S—— S—— Co. not liable in any damages to D——. But the higher court revised this lower court's decision holding that B—— P—— Co. is liable in damages to D—— for his injuries if the jury decides that D—— was an employe of B—— P—— Co. The court said:

"While it is the fact that H—— W—— Co. was liable for the wages, it is also the fact that the wages were in truth and fact being paid by B——, and he was required under his contract to reimburse H—— W—— Co. for any wages paid to M—— B—— by H—— Co. According to the evidence, H— W—— Co. alone had the right to discharge M—— B—— . . . . However, it is not sufficient, in order to render H—— W—— Co. liable for the negligence of M—— B——, that we merely find that M—— B—— was an employe. We must further find that he was acting in the course and scope of his employment with H—— W—— Co. . . . However, we think it clear that at the time of the accident appellant (D——) was not acting in the course and scope of his employment by H—— W—— Co., but that he was at that time entirely under the control of B—— P—— Co."

High Level Fuel Stop



Fueling of straddle carriers is now safer and consumes less time for drivers in the Materials Handling Dept. at Timken Roller Bearing Co's. Steel and Tube Div. A driver pulls up to this platform, steps across, and adds fuel or anti-freeze. No longer does he have to climb up and down the carrier with the nozzle

This court also said that an employe may be in the general service of one person, and may be lent or hired to another for some special service. If in that service he is subject wholly to the direction of control of that other person, the latter, and not the general employer, is liable for injuries caused by negligent or wrongful acts of the employe, while engaged in the performance of duties pertaining to such special service.

TRANSPORTATION

Who is responsible for payment of compensation or damages to an injured truck driver?

The person in direct control of the driver at the time of his injuries is his real employer and he must pay the compensation or damages. But, the fact that a company or person has indirect control over the driver or directs him where to obtain or haul merchandise does not make him the legal employer.

For illustration, in C—— Co. v. M——, 311 Pac. (2d) 812, the testimony showed that an employee, named M——, drove a motor truck owned by one R——. M—— was injured when loading goods at the plant of the C—— Co.

The legal question presented to the higher court was whether M—— could recover compensation from the C—— Co. or from R——.

During the trial, testimony was given which proved that officials of the C—— Co. had no direct control over M——, although they directed him.

Although the lower court held that the company must pay $14,000 compensation to him, the higher court reversed the verdict holding:

"C—— Co.'s superintendent naturally had the authority to direct claimant (M——) where to obtain the truck loads he hauled, and where to unload them; but such control is usually regarded as having to do merely with the result, or progress of the work."

Does a motor carrier commit a crime if he knowingly prepares a false report for filing with ICC?

Last month a higher court held that a motor carrier commits no crime by knowingly and willfully making and preparing for filing with the ICC a false report.

The lower court convicted the carrier but the higher court reversed the verdict, saying:

"We think the failure to allege that this appellant (carrier) filed the false report in question and the fact that it alleged only that appellant made and prepared it for filing is fatal to the government's case."

ICC Proposes New Accident Reporting Rules for Industry

A recent proposal of the ICC concerning accident reports will affect all common, contract and private motor carriers in interstate or foreign commerce if enacted. Also those operating within a municipality or its commercial zone.

The proposal, Ex Parte No. MC-40, calls for a detailed register to be maintained on a quarterly basis no matter how insignificant the accidents appear to be. Only private carriers would be exempt from filing the register of accidents with the ICC. Filing as proposed would be in duplicate and would occur quarterly.

The Commission will hold up final adoption of the regulation until April 1 of this year so that consideration of any written statements may be given. No oral hearings have been scheduled.

Dairy-Food Sanitarians Told Of Frozen Food Handling

Hubert M. Arons told the Connecticut Association of Dairy and Food Sanitarians of the make-up of today's public refrigerated warehouse at a recent meeting.

The vice president and general manager of Hartford Freezer Corp. pointed out that the safe and scientific storage and handling of the large variety of frozen foods available today requires much more than just good physical facilities. Specialized handling equipment, well trained employes, a knowledge of perishable commodities, coupled with a strong sense of service are necessary, he told the sanitarians.

Aron's remarks formed a part of the Sanitarians' 35th Annual Meeting where he participated on a frozen food panel.

Government Suspends Policy On Handling Employe Moves

A recent meeting between officials of the Department of Defense and the household goods industry has resulted in the suspension of government policy on transportation of uncrated military household goods until July 1.

During the two-day session, it was agreed that military personnel and their families should receive quality service and also that regulations toward such service should be accomplished. The policy under discussion during the session was Directive 4500.26, previously scheduled to go into effect on March 8 of this year.

Moves toward its suspension were strengthened by requests from the industry and Congressmen, such as Florida's Senator Smathers.

Brodsky Leads Industry Fight On City "Container Rent" Tax

David Brodsky, counsel for the New York moving and storage industry, has begun action against the New York City sales tax applied to movers furnishing barrels and other containers to their customers.

The industry maintains that charges made for the furnishing of such containers take the character of a service charge to reimburse employers for the labor and costs involved in delivery of the material. The industry proposes to take the city to court for a ruling on the application of the city sales tax to such service.

Movers who have been presented with such charges have been advised to pay them in order to avoid an additional penalty fee, but to do so under protest. Proceedings involve the comptroller's office.

WAREHOUSE DIRECTORY

The following Directory Section supplies detailed data on the services and facilities available for three types of warehousing—general commodity, household goods (including moving), and refrigerated. The first two types are combined because many warehousemen offer both types.

Refrigerated warehouses are listed separately—mostly because, in the past, they required special plant facilities and handled only perishable food products. Today, the situation is changing. Many food processors have added frozen items to their list of products. As a result, general warehousemen handling the staple lines have added cooler and freezing rooms to provide the processors with a complete service.

The day may soon come when all forms of warehousing will be so combined that no separation of listings will be feasible. The warehouse industry is ever adapting itself to the needs of the industries they serve.

Of course, manufacturers probably always will differ in their demands for warehouse services. Some will want only clean, dry space at the lowest possible cost. Their needs may be just seasonal.

Other firms will want warehouses to serve as distribution centers. They will expect them to fill orders, apply private brand labels, handle the billing—even provide branch office service.

In the directory, all listings are arranged alphabetically by states, alphabetically by cities, and alphabetically by warehouse names. Listings for the refrigerated section begin on Page 447.

The traffic line is a continuation of the production line. Sales are only consummated when traffic people, such as yourself, deliver the product to your customer. Choosing a warehouse in another city, which will be the end of your traffic line, or your delivery problem, is not an easy one. You cannot know all the people in each warehouse; therefore, you must depend on the system's reputation which controls both the warehouse and its people.

Ryder Bonded Warehouse, a division of Ryder System, Inc., gives you the assurance that the end of your traffic line will be handled by the same type of people you would want in your own department: steady, loyal, customer-conscious people. Ryder System knows one of its main assets in the warehouse division is personnel. Let me prove their worth to you now!

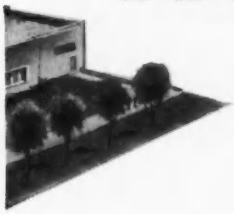
STREET LEVEL WAREHOUSE
offers you efficiencies
POSSIBLE NO OTHER WAY!

W&M S EXPANDED SERVICES

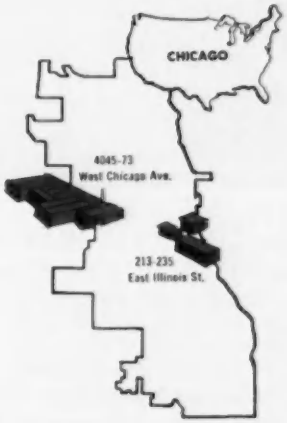


• save time • save labor • increase your profits

WAKEM & McLAUGHLIN has been recognized as Chicago's leading warehouse for 74 years. Now, with ultra-modern facilities, they set a new standard by actually turning storage costs into substantial distribution savings!

It's simply accomplished with a huge 190,000 sq. ft., one story warehouse operation and 245,000 sq. ft. of land area—all engineered for scientific material handling. There's nothing else like it in the area!

All the factors that raise your distribution expense are eliminated or minimized. Automation is fully utilized to save loading and unloading time, handling, damage, demurrage, spoilage, and to speed your service and efficiency to and from the Chicago market.

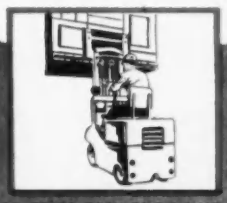


Specifically—these are the W & M advantages:

- No fixed obligation for space!
- No charge for space not used!
- Only Internal Revenue bonded warehouse in the Chicago area.
- Fully mechanized freight handling.
- Enclosed truck dock.
- Inside rail siding.
- U.S. Custom bonded warehouse.
- Warehouse receipts honored anywhere in U.S.
- 18 to 23 foot pile height.
- Heated, all-brick construction.
- Complete sprinkler and A.D.T. systems.
- Low insurance rate.

400,000 SQUARE FEET OF MODERN WAREHOUSING

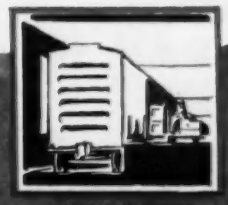
Two strategic locations in the heart of Chicago's industrial and commercial districts:



18 TO 23 FOOT PILE HEIGHT saves you space. Fully mechanized equipment plus unlimited floor load permits high stacking to save cost.

ENCLOSED TRUCK DOCK protects your goods from weather. 24 trucks can be spotted at one time. Driveway-level door allows for direct inside handling.

OFF-STREET TRUCK DRIVE keeps trucks free of street congestion. A six-lane drive leads to the dock—cuts costly waiting time—expedites incoming and outgoing shipments.



INSIDE RAIL SIDING is set up so mechanized equipment can roll in the car, pick up the load and store it in one operation. 25 cars a day can be accommodated.

My boss says I'm a genius...

EDGAR'S WAREHOUSES INC.

My boss needed warehousing and distribution in Detroit, Fort Wayne and Toledo.

I brought him the directory issue of Distribution age . . .

and opened it to the Edgar's Warehouse ad. After he had called Edgar's, he said, "Miss Jones . . . what would I do without you."

I'm sure he would have ended up with Edgar's Warehouse without my help...but it's nice to be appreciated.

HERE'S WHY MISS JONES' BOSS WOULD HAVE CHOSEN EDGAR'S WAREHOUSES WITHOUT HER HELP.

Edgar's locations are planned for their usefulness to the Detroit, Toledo and Fort Wayne Markets. Whether you are a large or small account, an efficient front office and warehouse team works as a unit to solve your storage and distribution problems.

EDGAR'S OFFERS ADDED SERVICES . . .

Besides operating 15 established warehouses in Detroit, Michigan; Toledo, Ohio, and Fort Wayne, Indiana, Edgar's offers added services like operating your warehouse or establishing S.I.T. facilities anywhere in the U.S.A.

Federal Warehouses are serviced by all truck lines and major railroads. You get the most modern buildings and facilities available; pay for only what you use and have immediate flexibility in space and personnel requirements to meet changes in marketing conditions.

Whether you operate your own distribution center or utilize some other means, we are confident we can show you substantial savings, through accurate cost analysis, plus new speed and efficiency. Please contact us so that we can discuss these many benefits in more detail.

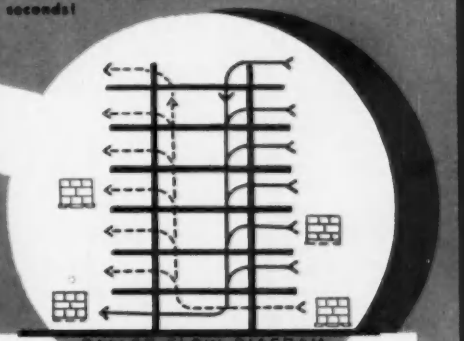
HVC'S Electronic Memory

Completely automatic! The fork lift operator deposits his palletized load on the inbound conveyor, presses the button for the proper floor in HVC's electronic memory and goes on about his business. HVC automatically loads the pallet onto the lift—and the "memory" deposits it at the proper floor only a short distance from where it is going to be stored—in a matter of seconds!



PALLET FLOW DIAGRAM

▶ Automated Floor to Floor Movement of Palletized Merchandise at High Speed Saves You Time and Money!

Wilson's Horizontal-Vertical Conveyor (HVC) is an exclusive feature of this warehouse and exists nowhere else! Designed, engineered and constructed by Wilson management—it is an entirely new method of handling floor-to-floor pallet loads of all types of merchandise. Increases pounds per man-hour handled by more than 40%. The HVC is an important factor in making your storage dollar go farther and your product move faster.

A modern, fire resistant brick, concrete and steel building—seven stories and 6 acres of safe, heated storage space,—100% sprinkler and ADT protected. Buffalo's lowest insurance rate. Direct access to the new East-West; North-South Expressways, which join the New York State Thruway. New York Central Ry. private siding—20 car daily capacity. Reciprocal switching all 11 railroads entering Buffalo. Direct switching to New York Central's Niagara Frontier Electronic Yards. It gets you in and out of Wilson's FAST!

Ohio, Indiana Turnpikes to Test Double-Bottom Operations for 6 Months

Toll roads in Ohio and Indiana have initiated a six-month test of double-bottom tractor-trailer operation.

Special permits will be issued to carriers for operation of multiple units up to 98 ft in length over the limited-access highways. Gross weights of up to 127,400 lb will be permitted.

This action by the two turnpikes opens an additional 397 miles to double-bottoms. The Ohio Turnpike is 241 miles long and joins with the 156-mile Northern Indiana Toll Road.

Permanent authorization for this type of operation has been granted by the New York Thruway and the Massachusetts Turnpike.

Cost of operation on the Ohio Turnpike will be about 10 to 11 cents per mile. Indiana will charge $18.75 for a one-way trip.
